Blood Suckers, Fat Horse.
Not Like Bill Sykes.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

IT MAY comfort farmers to knew that banks will do well in 1928, whatever may happen to farmers.

Money in New York yesterday cost 8 per cent, even when borrowed on first-class securities with a big margin of safety.

Bank stocks that have been able to pay as much as 100 per cent a year should do better, possibly 200 per cent.

Blood suckers are not good for a fat horse, but a fat horse is a fine thing for blood suckers. And the financial blood suckers have a good fat horse in the present state of prosperity.

SECRETARY MELLON knows that dear money is expensive. Yesterday he advertised $525,000,000 in United States Treasury certificates, 4½ per cent interest, saying, "This price will yield corporations the equivalent of 5.1 per cent, as compared to a taxable investment."

That's pleasant for the corporations and others getting such an investment with the United States back of it.

Mr. Mellon expected to sell those certificates on a 3½ per cent basis.

Usurious interest rates, encouraged by the Federal Reserve, compel the United States Treasury to pay $525,000 a year more on this loan.

GOV. SMITH could investigate the conditions of wholesale usury in New York. He can't meddle with National banks or the Federal Reserve, but he might find out who is promoting usury, that costs investors in securities alone $140,000,000 a year in New York City.

CRIME in the days of Bill Sykes was a haphazard occupation, not profitable. It's a "business" now, well organized, with profits running into hundreds of millions a year.

It's so well organized, in Chicago, that, according to the public prosecutor, gangmen "have tapped the grand jury room," and are able to give their lawyers full information in advance, most useful.

CONAN DOYLE reports a nice, long talk with Conrad, author of sea stories. Mr. Conrad wants to come back and deal with human beings again. Just now he is in "the spirit world" and is restless. No wonder.

An active spirit craves action. That "force cannot act without matter" is a truth that holds good everywhere. It must be tiresome in the spirit land, with all sorts of good ideas, and no way to work them out.

That's why the Asiatic idea of heaven paved with gold, adorned with precious stones, no mention of flowers, green grass or factories, is a description that fills the active mind with horror.

Ten trillion years of doing nothing would be too long, and that would be only the first minute of eternity.

AMERICA produced 4$5,000 automobiles in August, highest record, and that with Henry Ford not in full production.

The country needs about 5,000,000 new cars every year. Four hundred and fifty thousand every month would be about right, now, more later.

SCIENTISTS, gathered at Glasgow, are told that millions of years ago Europe and North America were united. Mountain chains prove it, and the geology of Europe and America prove it.

That's interesting, but the important thing is the fact that Europe and America are now divided by 3,000 miles of ocean. And the job is to keep them divided, except in friendship.

George Washington never heard about the old-time physical union of the continents. But he wanted to keep them apart, wanted no entanglements. And that's what sensible Americans want now.

DON FRANCESCO PIOMBINO is appointed by Mussolini as governor of Rome. He is a prince and has many other names. The appointment is understood to prove excellent relations between Mussolini and the Pope.

Rome's new governor comes of an ancient family that has supplied two popes to the church, including Gregory XIII, to whom the world owes the Gregorian calendar.

OUR energetic neighbor, Colombia, will build a highway to the ocean, 90 miles long, from the city of Cali to Buena Ventura, on the Pacific Ocean.

Americans will send the $8,000,000 for that and other public works in the friendly republic.

Uncle Sam isn't such a bad neighbor.

FRANCE and England say their private naval agreement was planned "to promote peace and reduce arms" Russia, you are told, is insincere in her peace proposal.

Leaving out the uncertain quantities, Mussolini and Russia, England knowing France could destroy London any fine morning, France knowing that England could wipe out Paris any afternoon, are anxious to be friendly.

All we need to worry about is to be properly prepared. And we really NEED to worry, for we are not prepared at all.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY MONOGHAN, of Philadelphia, "shocked" to discover that high officials in the city fix prices that bootleggers must pay for "protection" may be shocked, but he surely is not surprised.

It is for those that sell protection to fix the price of their goods, in Philadelphia, as in our other great cities.

Any speakeasy in any block in any big city can tell you the regular rate.

TYRRELL'S PASTOR ON STAND

MIND LAPSED, DEFENSE HINT

A minister sat uncomfortably in a hard, wooden chair in Criminal Court today and told of a murder in his church one Sunday morning last May.

The Rev. J. Daniel Waters, pastor of the First Christian Church of Munhall, told his story of the killing that sent his Sunday school superintendent, Attorney Fayette J. Tyrrell, to jail and Philip Clark, an estranged husband, to his grave.

"It wasn't," said the pastor of the man who pulled the trigger three times, "the same F. J. Tyrrell I had always known."

And that was the statement the defense counsel—William H. Coleman—emphasized, allowing, it seemed, the inference that Tyrrell was temporarily out of mind when he slew the man who had accused him of dividing the Clark household.

The pastor had made that statement at the coroner's inquest, and Coleman had him stamp it as authentic today. Earlier, defense counsel, in this first day of testimony, had sought through a witness to indicate to the jury of four women and eight men that Tyrrell had acted in self-defense. Sam W. Richey, of Munhall, who was in Tyrrell's home when the lawyer was arrested, reported from the witness stand this conversation:

Constable W. O. Finley—Why did you shoot him?"

Tyrrell—"It had to be him or I."

Finley, testifying, shortened Tyrrell's answer to this: "It had to be."

When Thomas F. Thompson, chairman of the church board, was called to the stand he admitted that, in a telephone conversation in his presence between Clark and Tyrrell, Clark had called the lawyer "a coward, a shyster lawyer, a home-breaker" and "other vile names."

The Rev. Waters told of the argument in his study that preceded the killing and of his flight to a nearby

TRIAL IN SECOND DAY

There is no enmity today between Mrs. Hazel Clark (left) and Mrs. Fayette J. Tyrrell as the commonwealth in the second day of his trial seeks to brand Attorney Tyrrell, Sunday school superintendent, as the murderer, last May 13, of Mrs. Clark's husband, Philip. In the courtroom of Visiting Judge Robert A. Stotz, Easton, there was solace for each in the comfortings of the other.

G.O.P. WINS IN MAINE

["As Maine goes, so goes the Union!"]—Political proverb.

International News Service.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 11.—With 544 precincts complete out of the state's 633, William Tudor Gardiner today had been elected Governor of Maine over Edward C. Moran, Jr., Democratic candidate, by a majority that was expected to exceed 80,000 with complete returns. The vote was: Gardiner, 138,360; Moran, 62,919.

Senator Frederick Hale was assured of re-election over his Democratic opponent, Herbert E. Holmes, with the same number of precincts in, by 134,908 votes to 60,745.

DEMOCRAT SLUMP

Next to the overwhelming Republican majorities, the sharp decline in the Democratic vote and Hale's close follow of Gardiner's lead were the features of the election. Republicans won all along the line by a vote of more than two to one.

These returns include the city of Portland complete. Incomplete returns from other precincts indicate a total Republican majority of more than 80,000.

Returns are not expected to be completed today, but any change in the result with the tabulation of distant rural districts is regarded as impossible. All majorities will increase.

Three Republican congressmen were re-elected and the Republican candidate was elected in the Fourth Congressional District.

Everywhere the Republican vote was heavy, while the Democratic poll fell far below expectations.

The election was a Republican sweep. Gardiner's majority, mounting hourly as returns came in from outlying precincts, was twice as great as Gov. Brewster's four years ago and exceeded the record majority piled up by Gov. Parkhurst in 1920.

BOAST FAILS

Democrats had boasted they would keep Gardiner's majority under Brewster's 36,600, while Republicans were confident the total majority for their candidate would be in excess of the record 65,800. As complete returns became known today, G. O. P. chieftains were as much surprised as the leaders of the Democratic party.

Big Hoover Gains in Poll

A material gain in the returns for the day continues the upward trend of Herbert Hoover's majority over Gov. Alfred E. Smith in the straw vote canvass of Pennsylvania by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The Republican candidate received 328 more votes than the Democratic candidate in a total of more than 1,300 votes recorded for the day, running the Hoover lead in the state totals to date to 2,203. Nearly 20,500 ballots have been cast in the poll by electors of Pennsylvania.

Hoover maintained his strength in Philadelphia, getting 454 votes to 300 for Smith in that city. Women cast nearly one-half of the Hoover vote.

The ballots from rural counties were almost 2-to-1 for Hoover, who received 346 votes while Smith received 175. Suburban communities strongly favored Hoover, although the vote was light.

The totals to date in the Pennsylvania poll, conducted as part of the nation-wide canvass by the Hearst papers, are as follows: Hoover 11,333, including 7,411 men and 3,922 women; Smith 9,130, including 5,978 men and 3,152 women.

The votes of these electors cast in 1924 were divided as follows: Coolidge 14,339, including 9,254 men and 5,085 women; Davis, 1,581, including 1,184 men and 397 women; La Follette, 1,456.

Woman Witness Balks in Rum Quiz

A mysterious woman was haled before the booze-and-graft-investigating Federal grand jury today, the first of her sex to be called—and trouble started!

She refused to answer pertinent questions, it seems. So United States Attorney John D. Meyer trotted her from the grand jury room to Judge F. P. Schoonmaker's court.

"Your Honor," said Meyer, "she only answers, 'I refuse to answer.'"

And then the silent witness gave her name—Rose S. Levine, who lives at the home of Dr. J. O. Specter, 717 Hastings street. Dr. Specter is county medical examiner.

Judge Schoonmaker advised the witness to answer questions, promised her immunity from prosecution so far as any testimony that concerned herself, and reminded her

PITTSBURGH AIR DERBY FLIERS WIN $2,500

International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—Los Angeles today was paying homage to Earl Rowland, Wichita (Kan.) flier, who piloted his Cessna monoplane to victory in the Class A transcontinental air derby which was completed here yesterday.

Although officials announced last night it might be a day or two before a check-up could be made to ascertain for certain the winner, it was generally accepted around Mimes Field that Rowland would be officially declared victor. He led the field virtually all the way from New York. First prize is $5,000.

Rowland landed at Mimes Field shortly after 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A minute or two behind him came the little red American Moth, carrying Robert Dake and Theodore Taney, of Pittsburgh, the probable $2,500 second place winners.

Next came "Tex" Rankin, of Portland, Ore., in his orange-colored Waco. Rankin's black cat mascot deserted him at Kansas City and his luck immediately improved. Following him in order were:

W. H. Emory, of Bradford, Pa., in a Travelair; Theodore Kenyon, of Boston, in a Challenger, and Eugene Detmer, of Tarrytown, N. Y., also in a Travelair, the 17 other surviving planes landed within the next 20 minutes.

$6,250 PUT ON HEAD OF DAPPER KILLER

The Allegheny County Board of Commissioners today announced they had authorized a reward of $5,000 for the apprehension of the murderer of Dr. Harry R. Dapper, young Carrick physician shot to death in his automobile on the Lebanon Church road three weeks ago.

Commissioner C. C. McGovern offered the resolution setting up the reward budget and it passed unanimously. Henry A. Dapper, father of the slain physician, had previously offered $1,000 reward and the Pittsburgh Motor Club $250.

Chairman Armstrong summoned District Attorney S. H. Gardner and informed him of the reward action. Gardner was questioned closely by the Commissioners as to what had been done to solve the mystery murder which took place when a stranger lured Dr. Dapper from his office on the pretense that the stranger's wife was ill. Gardner said that every clue suggested had been run down by the county detectives and all had proved futile. He said the officers now had no clue that would aid in bringing about the arrest of the killer, and that he believed the large reward would stimulate the search for the slayer, who escaped in Dr. Dapper's automobile after a battle with the father of the doctor, who had gone on the supposed mercy mission with his son and the murderer because the doctor was suspicious of his client.

If the slayer is caught the reward can be paid only to a citizen or an officer not in the employ of the county police department. In case the reward is claimed by more than one person, Gardner is delegated by the Commissioners to allocate the payment of the money.

BODIES FOUND SHOT TORN

Two more victims paid with their lives in the Italian vendetta which has raged in Sewickley for five years, and which has run the death total to five, county detectives reported today as they began investigating the slaying of Thomas Curcio, 42, head of the Sons of Italy of Sewickley, and his farm laborer, Nick Bartolotto. Both were found slain on Curcio's Sewickley Heights township farm, near the Magee school, this morning.

Bartolotto, evidently, had been the first victim. Bound hand and foot, his body was found crumpled on the cellar floor of the farm house with three 38-caliber revolver wounds, one in the head and two in the chest. It is believed he was shot Sunday night or early yesterday.

SLAIN FROM AMBUSH

Sprawled in the rear doorway was the body of Curcio, his face and chest peppered with shot from a 12-gauge shotgun, which the slayer had fired from his place of concealment behind a tree in the yard. He had been dead 24 hours.

Curcio drove in his automobile to the farm from his Bank street, Sewickley home yesterday morning. He had walked through the house from the front to rear, and opened the back door when he was killed.

When Curcio failed to return home last night, Angelo Morrow, taxi driver, and Thomas Perry, pool room proprietor, went to the farm and discovered the two bodies.

Bucs Aim To Sweep Chicago

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.
Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Donie Bush's Pittsburgh Pirates are in hopes of making it two in a row over the Chicago Cubs here today, to wind up their western trip a few games on the right side of the ledger.

If the Bucs can win today's battle they will return to the Oakland orchard with four victories and only two defeats registered for the trek.

Today Bush will send to the mound Carmen Hill, who has only had two days' rest since he tamed the Redbirds on Saturday. He will have plenty of time to relax after today, as the Freebooters do not have another regular league game until Friday in Pittsburgh, when they meet the Reds.

Altoona Pat Malone, always a menace to the Pittsburghers, will take to the mound for the Chicago crew today. Pat is generally a tough customer, but the Pirates feel confident of beating him.

MACK BANKS ON GROVE IN PENNANT CRISIS

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—As Yankees and Athletics prepare today to renew the hostilities which will decide the American League pennant, there looms the lanky form of Lefty Grove to stand between Huggins and victory, between Connie Mack and oblivion.

Lefty Grove of the whip lash fast ball; Lefty Grove of the sweeping curve—ace of the Mack staff and final hope in the rising tide of Philadelphia disaster.

Grove will pitch for the Athletics this afternoon!

GROVE, MACK'S HOPE

That is inevitable! Connie Mack has gambled—and lost—and this afternoon he can gamble no further. For Connie it is Grove—or oblivion.

For the Yankees it may be Johnson and it may be Hoyt. Both are ready and anxious to work. Both will be called to warm up before the game, with Miller Huggins standing by to pass final judgment, perhaps two minutes before the game starts.

Johnson, the youngster, with a record of four straight wins over the Athletics, is entitled to consideration. But so is Hoyt, veteran of the staff, cagey, wise, experienced and possessor of the best pitching record in the American League today. And Hoyt will be given the call, if, after warming up, he feels strong and able to carry on.

Strange as it may seem, the Yankees hold no fear of the rangy Grove, who has been such a terror to other clubs all season. Against the rest of the league Grove may be a miracle man—but to the Yankees he is just another lefthander. Six times Lefty has started against the Yankees this season, and five times has has been thoroughly and soundly beaten.

"He can't beat us," the boys chortled this morning as they discussed happily the newest phase of the pennant race. "He's whipped to start. We've got the Indian sign on him and he knows it."

"He has to beat them," Connie Mack retorted. "He can't fail me now. He has to win!"

And that is all.

The answer can't be guessed here—that will have to be written this afternoon out there on the massaged greenness of the playing field to the music of growing cheers and the symphony of crashing bat hits.

ODDS FAVOR YANKS

The Yankees will go into today's game favorites to win the series, and the pennant. Odds of 8 to 5 are being offered that they will win one more game and the series. But there are few takers. Philadelphians have been jolted out of their complacent confidence—and this morning they're no longer bubbling. This morning they are fighting mad and grimly determined.

Odds are a bit shortened on the pennant race. With 17 games remaining to be played, including the final two of the Athletic series, the Yankees are quoted at 6 to 5 to win the pennant. Wise betters, discount a bit, their ability to defeat the Athletics.

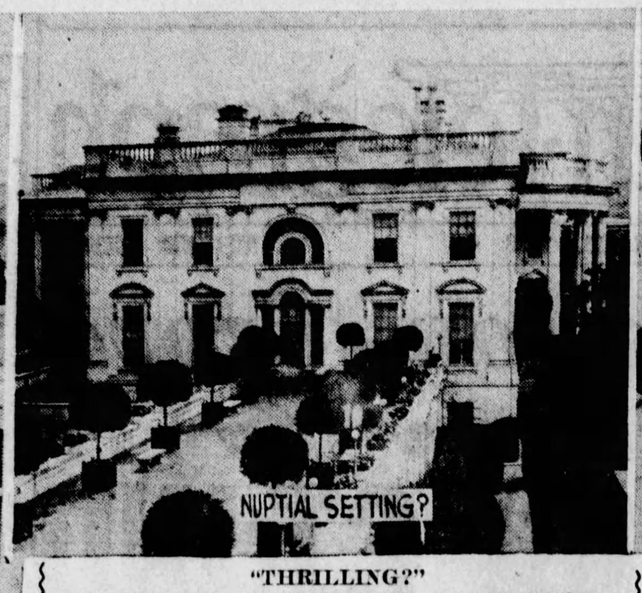
What they've got to do to clinch the pennant is whip the other clubs—and that's no easy assignment. St. Louis, Detroit and Chicago still remain on the Yankee schedule—and these three have been much tougher all season than have the minions of Mack.

SOSSONG DIES BROKEN AND PENNILESS

Coolidge Silent -:- Will John and Flo Marry on "Thirty-a-Week?" -:- Back From Europe!

FLORENCE TRUMBULL

Florence Trumbull, the Governor's daughter, reluctantly confirms at this late date betrotal to John Coolidge.



"THRILLING?"

Florence, beseiged on all sides for an answer, denied the engagement, but naively confirmed it by hinting of a wedding after Christmas. Perhaps at the White House! Wouldn't that, queries Florence, be thrilling?

PARTY

Florence is just back from the Continent. This was her party: Esther Trumbull, Helen Evans, Florence Trumbull, Edna Stauffer, Zoe Warner, Emily Sloper. These girls lost $1.50 in betting John would meet Flo's boat!

JOHN COOLIDGE

John Coolidge, like his father, admits nothing. He is thinking of becoming a N. Y., N. H., and H. railroad freight clerk.

NEAR "HER"

A college graduate, he would earn a $80-a-week maximum in a small station. He has asked for one near Flo's home.

POSSIBLE?

It is possible that they will marry soon and try to get along on John's $30-a-week, hoping that he will soon get a "raise."

Fireman Shot as Prowler

Shot in the left arm and leg, City Fireman Arthur Doyle, 30, of 3012 Bancroft street, is a patient in Mercy Hospital. Police are holding James Jones, 45, of 3460 Webster avenue, who, they say, admits shooting Doyle, and contends Doyle was attempting to break into the Jones garage at 3:30 o'clock this morning.

Jones told police that two weeks ago some person attempted to force an entrance into his garage and that he had been lying in wait for a return visit. This morning Jones' vigil was rewarded, he said, and when he saw a man prowling around the garage he opened fire.

Suspicious person charges were lodged against both Doyle and Jones.

SOSSONG, $120,000 EMBEZZLER, DIES

William F. Sossong, 63, former Carnegie banker, broken in health and finances following his conviction three years ago on charges of embezzlement of nearly $120,000 from the Carnegie Ten-Cent Building and Loan Association and the Carnegie Standard Building and Loan Association, died in St. John's Hospital yesterday following a lingering illness.

Efforts of the family and McDermott Brothers, McKees Rocks undertakers, to keep the convicted banker's death secret were unavailing and residents of Carnegie and adjacent territory, many of whom lost heavily in the building and loan collapse, recall Sossong's rapid decline in health during the past few years.

Penniless, according to reports, the elder Sossong recently had been living in St. Louis with a son. Six weeks ago he was brought to Pittsburgh suffering from cancer of the stomach and was taken to the hospital.

Sossong was sentenced to three years in the Allegheny county jail for embezzlement on March 2, 1926, after spending five months in jail for lack of bail. He was paroled last October because of ill health.

Weather Conditions.

Two areas of high pressure, central over the Virginias, 30.24, at Elkins and over Ontario, White River 30.12, respectively, are separated by a trough of low pressure, extending from Lake Michigan southwestward to the plateau region with centers near Green Bay, Wis., 29.90, Dodge City, Kan., 29.80, and Cheyenne, Wyo, 29.82. Another low of considerable energy covers the Canadian Northwest, Kamloops, B. C., 29.64.

Rain has fallen in the last 24 hours in the upper lake region, Upper Mississippi Valley, Plains states and portions of the Northern Rocky Mountains; elsewhere fair weather has prevailed.

It is somewhat cooler in Iowa and portions of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and Montana, while it is warmer in New England.

HUSBAND INSISTS SHE KEEP JOB, WIFE CHARGES

Her husband was willing to return to her if she would continue working, Mrs. Marcella Garland, stenographer at Mellon Institute, testified before Judge J. V. Moore today in the divorce action she filed against Raymond J. Garland, painter and decorator. They were married in 1920 and have two children, each parent keeping one child. She charged desertion, and in the course of testimony said her husband refused to make a home for her, but was willing for her to continue working.

GIRL'S ASSAILANT GETS TERM IN PENITENTIARY

Webster was called a "coward" and denounced by the court. The girl, who testified against him, was praised as having rendered a real service to the community."

HIGHWAY BONDS INDORSED

The County Commissioners today indorsed the proposed $50,000,000 bond issue for highway improvements to be voted on November 6. The state was authorized by the Legislature 1927 to issue bonds to the amount of $150,000,000 for highway improvements. The $50,000,000 is a part of this amount.

Lights on Bridge Ordered; Who's To Pay?

Although the McKeesport-Duquesne bridge has been opened more than two weeks, the approach on the McKeesport side is without lights, the county commissioners learned today.

The commissioners maintained that it was up to officials of McKeesport to install the lights. McKeesport council has refused to do so, it is said, contending that the county should do the work and pay for it.

The Public Service Commission has ordered the approach lighted. Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong will invite officials of McKeesport to meet with commissioners next week and thresh the matter out. The expense amounts to about $600 a year.

CAPONE VISITS DEAD PAL

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—(AP.)—Great floral pieces, one of which spelled in foot-high letters the name of the deceased—"T. Lombardo"—filled the home and yard of the slain gang chief today as his funeral was held.

One was a large heart, done in red flowers. Attached was the card: "Al Capone." The lettering in the center of the heart was: "My Pal." The entire front of the Cicero home into which Lombardo, his wife and their two children moved three months ago, was all but concealed by the flowers and wreaths.

Capone, himself a man marked for death, police believe, planned to attend the funeral. He paid his respects to his dead associate yesterday by calling at the Lombardo home. Half a dozen men, with right hands concealed in coat pockets as though ready to balk any attempt on Capone's life, accompanied him.

Isabella, restaurant keeper, was shot down five years ago. Later Mike Rosetta and James Spardago, alleged gang leaders, were killed in retaliation. Frank Valenza later was convicted of killing Rosetta and is now serving a prison term.

After the killing of Isabella, Curcio purchased the restaurant and conducted it until a year and a half ago when he sold out and purchased the farm on which he was killed. Once, while conducting the restaurant, he received a threating letter and later was fired upon while standing at the door of his home.

The car which Curcio drove to the farm and which it is believed was used by the slayers in escaping was a Star sedan, painted green. It was a six-cylinder car of 1927 model, and bore Pennsylvania license No. 258,991.

Six head of cattle, a team of horses, a dozen sheep and 250 chickens, in the barn had not been fed or watered since Sunday night.

Fills Tank But Loses Wife at Gas Station

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—(AP.)—Mrs. Jane Jones, of Mishawaka, Ind., yesterday became, as her husband might well have phrased it, "The girl I left behind me."

The Joneses, with their two small children, had been visiting in Antigo, Wis., and were en route home when Jones stopped at a filling station here. Mrs. Jones got out for a bit of exercise.

The gas tank full, Jones started for Mishawaka. So did Mrs. Jones, but she was handicapped about 100 yards, and besides she was on foot. Jones thought she was in the back seat.

Jones, reaching Mishawaka, found a telegram awaiting him. It was from Mrs. Jones, in Chicago.

When the British want an automobile at a moderate price, they buy it of America and, after paying a heavy British duty, it's cheaper and lasts longer.

Facts do not agree with Prof. Young's theory.

that refusal to answer constituted contempt of court.

Then Meyer took his witness back to the jury room.

Bank accounts and records of deposits of reputed bootleggers and others involved in the alleged rum ring conspiracy were scheduled to be produced before the Federal inquisitors today. It is understood that more than 100 accounts will be examined in an effort to trace booze transactions.

DEMOCRATS NAME 18 ON FINANCE COMMITTEE

HARRISBURG, Sept. 11.—(AP.)—Appointment of 18 additional members to the finance committee of the Democratic state committee, is announced by Warren Van Dyke, the financial chairman. The appointees are: Col. Thomas E. Durbin, Erie; S. S. Bryan, Titusville; E. L. Adams, Carlisle; Charles B. Stevens, McConnellsburg; Joseph T. Kelley, Johnstown; John Breslin, Summit Hill; W. Harrison Walker, Bellefonte; Milo Smathers, Clarion; M. R. Evans, Lancaster; William McIntyre, Sharon; Charles D. McAvoy, Norristown; Edward F. Bennis, Philadelphia; Edward Benges, Meyersdale; C. C. Lesher, Lewisburg; J. M. Siegfried, Warren; Francis Allen, Tunkhannock; Albert Brodhead, Bethlehem, and James F. Boor, Riddlesburg.

TYRRELL JURY HEARS PASTOR

garage to summon the police. He also admitted making this statement: "A demented man has shot a man up at the church and has threatened me"—but the pastor couldn't recall to whom he had made the statement.

Other witnesses included the Rev. Waters' 10-year-old son, William Campbell Waters, who testified that he had heard the fatal shots, but hadn't seen the shooting; County Detective Michael McDermott, Robert A. Clark, Jr., brother of the victim; John King, garage proprietor and one of the first to reach the church after the shooting.

King told of searching Clark's clothing and finding—a shoe horn!

John Pentick, of Munhall, in whose car Tyrrell was driven from his home to the jail, testified that he noted nothing peculiar about Tyrrell's behavior on that ride.

The recital of what happened in that hour after Mrs. Clark's suit for divorce had been nullified by death followed the state's demand that the supreme penalty—death—be meted out to Tyrrell.

"The murder was a wilful, deliberate, premeditated killing," Assistant District Attorney John F. Haggerty argued in his opening address. "All we want is justice. If the defendant is guilty, we ask that he be punished."

The usual routine testimony was inserted into the records in the parade of witnesses that followed Haggerty's speech to the jury. Deputy coroners and county detectives testified as to recovering the body; Dectective Harry L. Ross exhibited photographs taken on May 16—three days after the Sunday shooting—showing the interior of the church and the pastor's study, where an argument preceded the shooting; Embalmer Arthur J. Parker told of the position of the body in the southeast corner of the church auditorium.

REV. THOMAS F. COAKLEY WRITES CHRISTMAS PLAY

The Rev. Thomas F. Coakley, rector of Sacred Heart Church, Pittsburgh, has written a Christmas play. It is in a prologue and five episodes, and is designed to make it possible to be produced easily by high schools, colleges, academies and parish dramatic groups. No elaborate equipment of costumes and scenery is required.

Leopold, Loeb Begin 5th Year In Prison

JOLIET, Ill., Sept. 11.—(AP.)—Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold today began the fifth year of their life sentences for the murder of Bobbie Franks.

Both have secretarial jobs in the state penitentiary. Leopold is secretary to the Rev. William Frye, Protestant chaplain, and Loeb is secretary to Deputy Warden William Barrowman. Formerly the youths worked in the prison factories.

SAVE-UNION MINERS ORGANIZE ANEW

After a hectic two days, delegates to the convention of the Save-the-Union Committee of miners began returning home last night, the convention having been ended late yesterday afternoon. Leaders of the faction say that between visits from the police, who refused them the right to meet, they were able to organize the National Miners' Union and to elect national and district leaders.

The delegates finally got down to business at a meeting in Workers' Hall, East Pittsburgh, and were in session long enough to conduct the election and pay expenses for holding the convention. John J. Watt, of Illinois, was elected president of the new organization; William Boyce, of Indiana, vice president and Patrick Toohey, of Pennsylvania, the secretary.

WEST ALEX. FAIR OPEN; RACES BEGIN TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 11.—With the promise of the management that the exhibition will be larger and better than ever before, the annual West Alexander Fair opened at West Alexander this morning.

COL. CHURCH RETURNS; BACKS HOOVER, NOT 'DRYS'

Mussolini, iron man of Italy, is personally a dry. But he doesn't believe in forcing prohibition on a nation.

Neither does Col. Samuel Harden Church, president of the Carnegie Institute, also a dry personally, believe prohibition should be forced on a people. While opposed to prohibition, Col. Church will vote for Hoover against the wet champion, Al Smith.

All this developed today in an interview with Col. Church, home from a European tour.

"I am a Republican and I will vote for Hoover," Col. Church said. Then he likened the presidential campaign to a horse race, with Hoover as Horse No. 1 and Smith as Horse No. 2. "Sometimes Horse No. 2 wins," he added.

While in Italy Col. Church had an intimate visit with Mussolini, whom the Pittsburgher declared is "a great statesman" and "the strongest individual force in the world today."

NOT FOR DRY NATION

Mussolini showed keen interest in American opinions and politics, Col. Church pointed out, saying:

"Mr. Mussolini wanted to know how the presidential election was going and when I mentioned prohibition as one of the unsettled subjects of our people, he looked at me with those piercing eyes of his and said: 'I am dry'—then repeated, 'I am dry.' Then I said, yes, so am I personally, but you don't force a nation to be dry because of your own habits. 'The nation—no!' he said, and then he thundered again, 'the nation—no, not the nation!'"

Col. Church and party had an audience with the Pope while in Rome. Speaking of this, the Colonel stated that the Pope is in feeble health, adding, "but in spite of his somewhat feeble health, the Pope is still pressing the question of temporal power and refuses to leave the boundaries of the Vatican until and unless he can travel to sea over a domain dedicated to him."

EUROPE IMPROVING

Continuing the interview, Col. Church said:

"From Italy we went into Austria, then into Germany. We did not see a native soldier either in Austria or Germany, and I noted as significant that where there were no soldiers, there is never any talk of war. Holland we found to be rich and thriving, and Belgium and France show many signs of recovering from war's destruction.

"We were in Paris when Mr. Kellogg's peace treaty was signed, and as Mr. Kellogg chivalrously gave Mr. Briand the credit of having initiated the treaty, it impressed everybody there as a happy situation that France had now become a mother of peace."

BOAT SINKS, ROCKFORD FLIERS SAVED

"525 HORSES"

Here's the Lockheed Vega, powered with a 525-horsepower "Hornet" motor in which two intrepid Pittsburghers will leave New York tomorrow in an effort to win the non-stop transcontinental race to Los Angeles, set a new record and incidentally capture the $12,500 cash prize.

AT THE CONTROLS

Capt. Jack Morris, Rodgers Field instructor and commercial pilot, will hold the stick during the 16 hours in which he hopes to make the 2,700 miles.

MECHANICAL BIRD

This stream-lined, modern plane, with a guaranteed speed of 185 miles an hour, is quite an improvement over the 1910 "Jenny" in which another Pittsburgher, Calbraith Perry Rodgers, made the first flight from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean. It took him 49 days. And in Los Angeles, the stock market bets give the Pittsburgh entrant (above) odds of 3 to 1 over its three competitors. They're betting on Col. William Thaw, noted American ace, who's 'back in the game.'

"WE'LL WIN"

The attitude and the spirit with which Col. Thaw left Pittsburgh for New York is "we'll win!" He'll be the navigator, gas "pumper" and relief pilot.

JOURNEY'S END

Here's the way Col. Thaw's plane will look if she sweeps over the finish line at the National Air Races in Los Angeles sometime Thursday morning.

HASSELL IS SAVED AGAIN

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 11.—(AP.)—Twice victorious over death in the Arctic, Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, pilots of the airplane Greater Rockford, were safe today after having been shipwrecked in the icy waters of Greenland.

The airmen, rescued two weeks after a forced landing and a trek across a wild and unexplored waste, were traveling down the coast on Sunday in a motor boat when it struck a rock at the mouth of Simiutak Fjord, on the southwestern coast of Greenland. The boat sank, but the fliers and their six companions, including Prof. William H. Hobbs, leader of the University of Michigan Greenland Expedition, escaped to a desolate shore.

Once they had gained land, the eight men found themselves in need of food and fuel. Two natives made their way in a small boat to Kanganing and obtained aid.

The sheriff of South Greenland in reporting the latest mishap of the fliers to the Greenland Administration Department said that efforts were being made to raise the sunken boat.

Hassell and Cramer apparently were making their way to Ivigtut to catch the ore steamer Wagland, which is scheduled to leave there about September 29 for Philadelphia. Prof. Hobbs had arranged for some members of his party to go to America on that vessel and had requested the Danish government to permit Hassell and Cramer to accompany this group.

LICENSE PLATES CLUE IN BEATING OF FARMER

MONACA, Pa., Sept. 11.—With only the license number of the automobile, which bore Ohio plates No. 16,170 to guide them, state police today were attempting to establish the identity of three men who last night beat Robert Potter, Raccoon township farmer, near his home. Potter was investigating the parking of the car on his property when the men jumped from the machine and beat him on the head with a blunt instrument.

Father Held in 4 Deaths

MONESSEN, Pa., Sept. 11.—(AP.)—Sgt. James V. Buckley of the state police yesterday filed information charging James Hlatky with being an accessory after the fact as a result of the finding of the bodies of four infants buried in the yard of the Hlatky home.

Mrs. Hlatky is charged with murder, as was her husband prior to a habeas corpus hearing last Thursday when Hlatky was freed of the major charge.

Sgt. Buckley has filed a second charge of murder against Mrs. Hlatky, the action being an outgrowth of the finding of two skeletons following the discovery of two bodies.

Mr. and Mrs. Hlatky were in jail today, but it was expected that Hlatky would be released on bail within a few days. Bond was set at $1,500.

NATRONA CHILD DEAD; HIGHWAY CRASH VICTIM

BUTLER, Pa., Sept. 11.—Helen Grabinsky, 7, died yesterday in the Butler Hospital from injuries suffered when the automobile driven by her fathe, Casman Grabinsky, of Natrona, was struck on the Pittsburgh-Butler highway by a machine driven by Edward Thereo, of Youngstown, O.

International Art Exhibits, Works Arrive

More than 250 paintings from European countries have already arrived at the Carnegie Institute for the twenty-seventh international art exhibit. The paintings have come from 14 European nations.

They are being unpacked and inspected by the United States customs officials. Next Tuesday they will be judged by the jury of award.

There will be about 130 paintings from the United States. This section will not be completed until the American Committee of Selection passes on some 200 paintings which have been submitted by American artists. This committee will meet at the Carnegie Institute next Monday. The international will open on October 18 and will continue through December 9.

FILM GIRLS GOT CASH OF CHURCH

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 11.—(AP.)—Evidence that Clinton S. Carnes, missing treasurer of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, sponsored the moving picture careers of two girls while a $1,000,000 shortage accumulated in his accounts was ready for submission today to a grand jury investigating Carnes' affairs.

Thomas B. Scott, receiver for Carnes' properties, announced yesterday that not only had Carnes kept an accurate record of his patronage, but that there was found in his private papers a contract between him and the young women. This agreement, Scott said, provided that Carnes was to receive a part of the earnings of Miss Sonia Nordle and Miss Lois Griffin. The contract was made through Mrs. Louise Pope formerly of Atlanta.

The receiver said he was told the girls were with Mrs. Pope in Hollywood, attending a school for motion picture actresses. In response to appeals from Mrs. Pope for funds, Scott said he had wired her that Carnes had disappeared and that no more money would be forthcoming.

Scott's inspection showed that Carnes had invested nearly $12,000 in the talent of the two girls over a period of 22 months.

While the home mission board was preparing to show the grand jury that Carnes kept purported speculations over a period of years from the eyes of the church officials and auditors, the United States Fidelity and Bonding Company of Baltimore launched a nation-wide search for him backed by a reward.

INTERURBAN CAR JUMPS TRACKS; HITS TRESTLE

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 11.—Traffic was held up for three hours on the Washington-Pittsburgh interurban line by a car jumping the tracks at Oak Grove, on the northern edge of the city. The coach, filled with passengers, plowed upon a trestle. None of the passengers was hurt, but the track was damaged and the position of the car on the trestle made its removal difficult.

CATCHES SHARKS

LADY MILLICENT TAYLOUR

They're calling Lady Millicent Taylour, daughter of the Marchioness of Headfort and popular in London's younger set, a shark-catcher today. Like her mother, she's an ardent angler and is chasing sharks in the Southern Pacific Ocean. Her last catch weighed 150 pounds and was landed after a stiff battle.

Beacon to Flash City's Name Proposed

The construction of a 35-foot tower, surmounted by a neon gas beacon visible 75 to 150 miles, was suggested in a letter received by Council yesterday from W. J. Strassburger, president of the Grant Buildings.

The light, which would flash the name "Pittsburgh" in Morse code, would cost $22,000 and Strassburger wants the city to pay half of that.

The light would be 1,238 feet above sea level and its construction, Strassburger wrote, has the approval of the Bureau of Aeronautics, Department of Commerce.

Hair Turned Gray By Beauty Shop, Wins $2,300

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 11.—AP.)—W. W. Baylor, sitting as a referee in the Lackawanna county court, has awarded $2,300 damages to Miss Mary Mahady, of Archbald, near here, whose hair turned gray after she had received treatment at a beauty parlor here. The decision was against Mme. Fenwick and Charles Lozier, who operate the concern.

Miss Mahady testified that she had gone to the beauty parlor to get a hair bob and "henna rinse."

Gets Lift In Auto; Robbed

Francis Darragh, 37, of 936 North avenue, Wilkinsburg, was beaten and robbed early today, after accepting an auto ride, as he was waiting for a car to take him home. The auto bandits took $37 and a gold watch valued at $50.

Darragh, a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train employe, was waiting for a street car at Penn and Sheridan avenues about 5 o'clock this morning when an auto drew up and he was invited to ride to Wilkinsburg.

The machine was driven out Frankstown road to Laketon road where the three occupants of the car beat Darragh on the head and took his cash and watch, he told police. He was forced from the machine and left in a dazed condition beside the road.

DROP FLOAT TO BOMBER

CADIZ, O., Sept. 11.—(AP.)—A new carburetor float dropped from the air, attached to a miniature parachute, enabled Lieut. H. A. Wheatley, pilot of a huge bombing plane, forced down at Jewett, yesterday, to make necessary repairs and be on his way again within a few hours.

The bomber, which had been staging a bombing demonstration at the Camp Perry rifle meet, carried a crew of five men from Camp Perry and Bolling Field, Washington. Uniontown, Pa., was the destination of the bomber as it left here.

CONNELLSVILLE PAPER SOLD TO OHIO GROUP

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 11.—The Connellsville Daily News, morning paper, today came out under new ownership. It was purchased by James L. Wick and his associates, of Niles, O. The paper was sold through M. B. Pryce, managing editor, for a reported price of $25,000.

PHILA. GANGSTER SLAIN; U. S. IN RUM PROBE

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—(AP.)—While the Federal government joined hands today with District Attorney John Monaghan in an effort to route the Philadelphia liquor ring, under investigation by a special grand jury, the police professed to see in the shooting to death last night of one alleged gangster and the wounding of another a renewal of the gang warfare that brought about the investigation.

A unit of the intelligence department of the Internal Revenue Service, headed by George E. Golding, was here today under orders from Dr. J. M. Doran, Federal prohibition administrator, to aid in the investigation, which the district attorney declares has revealed bribery of police by bootleggers and murder by hired assassins.

Police attribute the slaying last night of Amelio Scaramo and the wounding of James Flora to a resumption of the gang feud which resulted in the death last spring of Vincent Cocozza and his cousin, Joseph Zanghi. The two men were shot by Pasquale Livoy, proprietor of a bottling plant, after they were alleged to have held him up in his establishment and robbed him of $48 in cash and some jewelry. Livoy was held on a technical charge of manslaughter.

A girl and two men, who were waiting in an automobile, opened fire on Livoy when Flora staggered from the place and tried to reach the car, witnesses said. The sweeping fire failed to halt Livoy, who rushed from the door and sent a fusillade from his pump gun in the direction of the automobile. The girl and her men companions then leaped from the car and fled on foot.

LOWENSTEIN NOT POISONED

PARIS, Sept. 11.—(AP.)—Rumors that poison had contributed to the death of Capt. Alfred Lowenstein, Belgian capitalist, who fell from his private plane on July 4 while crossing the English Channel, were definitely set at rest today by the report of Doctors Paul and Kohn-Abrest. Their examination of the vital organs disclosed no sign of poison.

They found that the financier had lesions of the heart and kidney which would have made him subject to fits of giddiness amounting possibly to loss of consciousness. They found abrasions on the body such as might result from a fall from a great height.

18 ELK LODGES BACK STUDENT LOAN PLAN

ELWOOD CITY, Pa., Sept. 11.—Eighteen Elk lodges, comprising the northwest district, in convention here last night, adopted the student aid project. Under the plan prospective college students may borrow money from lodges and pay it back after graduation.

LAWRENCE GARDEN CLUB PLANS FLOWER SHOW

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Sept. 11.—Annual flower show of the Lawrence Garden Club will be held September 12 in Carnegie Auditorium.

TRAFFIC CONTROL PROJECT NOW AT CONSULTANT STAGE

The move to create an electric traffic control system in the "Golden Triangle" is progressing slowly, to say the least.

First advanced months ago, the plan was given further impetus yesterday when an ordinance was introduced in Council asking that permission be given to hire "consultants." At the same time the Better Traffic Committee asked a hearing on the subject.

An ordinance appropriating $75,000 for traffic signal equipment also was introduced. It was combined with an agreement affecting the removal and reconstruction of poles belonging to the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

AUTOS KILL 2, INJURE 8

GIRL DIES AS CAR RAMS POLE

Two persons were killed and eight were injured in four auto accidents yesterday and early today.

Miss Elva Masters, 19, of South Fork, Pa., was killed instantly when the auto in which she was riding crashed into a pole near the north end of the Sharpsburg Bridge. Three others in the car were seriously injured—a cousin, Walter Masters, 22, of 7148 Reynolds street; Carroll O'Donnell, 21, of 7420 Ben Hur street, the driver, and Grace Hook, 19, of 5519 Baywood street.

Miss Masters, a student at the Slippery Rock Teachers' College, came to Pittsburgh from her home in South Fork yesterday and was to have re-entered college today.

When their truck crashed through the wall of a stable off Washington road, Mt. Lebanon township, Burton H. Koons, 47, was killed, and Barak M. Yarnell, 28, both of Westerville, O., was seriously injured.

Joseph Didivia, 51, of 527 Paulson avenue, suffered a probable fractured skull, and G. Danuto, of 3060 Penn avenue, and R. F. Doyle suffered bruises when Danuto's auto collided with a truck driven by B. Fuci, 23, of 6960 Frankstown avenue, at Wilkins avenue and Beeler street.

Norman Jenkins, 16, of 613 Allegheny avenue, suffered bruises when, as he was repairing a tire on the Manchester Bridge, he was struck by an auto driven by Samuel Burton, 45, of 112 West North avenue.

TRAMPLED BY BULL, OHIO FARMER ESCAPES

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Sept. 11.—Alvin Miller, Stone Creek Valley farmer, escaped with minor injuries yesterday when felled by a bull which trampled him.

TRANSIT FACTOR STRESSED IN PICKING TOWN HALL SITE

Council should co-ordinate all studies of the Town Hall project to the end that it is placed in the best location "while causing the least interference with the street system, the transit system, or any other public or private feature of the city plan."

That was the advice given Council in a letter from L. W. Monteverde, of the City Planning Commission. The factors that should be considered by Council in this connection, he wrote are:

A—Ground area required, according to the type or types of structure

(a) If other features of city plan are combined with Town Hall;
(b) If seating arrangements are to be on one level or m re than one;
(c) If any automobile parking is to be provided on the same site.

B—The relation of the structure to its immediate locality, as to

(a) Streets—with respect to parking for patrons, interference of parked cars with local business or other property uses, facility of movement of automobiles and pedestrians to the hall and away;
(b) Other properties—with respect to "nuisance" probabilities such as noise, introduction of parasitic uses such as food vendors, gas stations, etc; and with respect to the blotting out of normal business developments of any kind due to the occupancy of large frontages by monumental architectural facades, etc.

C—The relation of the structure to the whole city

(a) With respect to the major street plan, and adequate arteries for patrons' automobiles; and to facilities for automobile parking;
(b) With respect to mass transportation facilities, such as location of surface or subway car lines and stations of the latter, capacity of transportation facilities in relation to other requirements therefor;
(c) With respect to accessibility by pedestrians;
(d) With respect to hotel accommodations;
(e) With respect to railroad facilities for shipments to and from the hall;
(f) With respect to esthetic factors, such as the natural setting of the structure and relation to other buildings.

STUNNED BY HIGH DIVE, BRIDGEPORT BOY DROWNS

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 11.—Searchers have recovered from the waters of Hinkle lake, near Bridgeport, the body of Henry Suarez, 16, Grasselli high school student, and son of Aurelio Suarez, who was drowned late Sunday when he dived into the lake from a platform. The lad was stunned by impact with the water.

Frocks From "Les Petites Maisons"

Street and Afternoon Types Such as Only the French Can Originate

$49.50

Left. One of the "little houses" of Paris sends this exquisite tailored frock for the college girl or the young woman of affairs . . . a bright new blue crepe de chine model with youthfully pleated collar and cuffs of flesh crepe, edged with blue. Five godets flare at the skirt front . . . oddly disposed scallops of self material come to a point above the godets and are repeated on the blouse.

Right. There are so many good details in this French import of deep red georgette for a gay young person's afternoon parties . . . among them the loosely pleated skirt tier, which swerves toward the waistline at the left side . . . the narrower pleated tier that encircles the waist and all but comes together at the front . . . and the tiers that fall gracefully at the wrists.

Other imports to Gimbels from the little dressmakers of Paris portray a fascinating variety of detail.

NEW WAVE LENGTHS GIVEN PGH. RADIO STATIONS

KDKA ONE OF 5 IN U. S. ALLOWED 50,000 WATTS

Pittsburgh's four radio stations, after November 11, will operate on new wave lengths, according to an announcement from the Federal Radio Commission in Washington today. Stations all over the country are affected by the reallocation. Pennsylvania is allowed 42 stations, 12 of which are in Philadelphia.

KDKA continues as one of the five stations in the country allowed 50,000 watts, but the wave has been shifted from 950 to 980 kilocycles. WCAE has been changed from 650 kilocycles to 1,240, but continues operation at 500 watts.

WJAS and KQV no longer will be compelled to divide their time on the air as they have been doing at 1,110 kilocycles. Instead KQV has been assigned to 1,380 kilocycles and will share time with WCSO, Springfield, O.

WJAS has been transferred to 1,290 kilocycles and no time division is specified.

All of the 629 radio stations in the country have been given a permanent assignment of power and wave length. Some of the most important stations were left undisturbed. None of the stations now licensed were ordered off the air, but some of the smaller stations were ordered to share time so as to give new stations a chance.

Rulings on "daytime" stations accompanied the reallocation order and another rule provided that 25,000 watts shall be the maximum power assignment except for experimental purposes. A third order forbids the broadcasting of identical programs for more than one hour by stations less than 300 miles apart on different frequencies. Special permission will be granted for programs of national interest, however.

HOME GUARDED AFTER THREAT

A police guard has been placed at the home of Mrs. John Halkain, Negress, at 3310 Ruthven street, following the finding of a note in which bodily harm was threatened her.

Mrs. Halkain returned home last midnight and found that the house had been entered during her absence.

The note, found in the living room, informed Mrs. Halkain that she had escaped by being absent, but that the writer would return and harm her.

She is at a loss to explain the note. She told police she had been attacked in her home last November, and possibly the writer might be her assailant.

STILL REPORTED WRECKED IN PENN AVE.

Two moonshine distilleries were reported uncovered by Federal prohibition agents yesterday in raids on a building at 1219 Penn avenue and a dwelling at 4508 Neville street.

David Agostono, 35, was taken at the Neville street address where, the agents said, they found a 500-gallon still and one of 35-gallon capacity, 105 gallons of moonshine, 6,200 gallons of mash, and other equipment. Agostono was released on $1,000 bail.

In the Penn avenue structure, agents said, they destroyed a 100-gallon still, 41 barrels of mash and 15 gallons of moonshine. The owner was not apprehended.

A few doors away from the Neville street still, the agents reported seizing a gallon of moonshine and arresting Ralph Lupanch, 57, of 4500 Neville street.

Moonshine and homebrew were reported seized in a store at 1864 Main street, Sharpsburg, and in a saloon a short distance away at 1884 Main street. A man and woman were arrested in each raid and released on bond.

Other raids were made in Etna, Finleyville and on the South Side.

DAVIS TO JOIN COOLIDGE, SHARON ADVANCES RALLY

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 11.—The Republican rally scheduled for this evening to open the Hoover campaign, with Secretary of Labor James J. Davis as the principal speaker, has been moved up an hour because Secretary Davis is to join President Coolidge at New Castle and travel east with the presidential party. The dinner of the county committee will start at 5:30 and the rally in the high school auditorium will start at 7 o'clock.

G. D. LEWIS SLATED FOR JUNIOR ORDER JOB

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 11.—As the state Junior O. U. A. M. convention opened today, it was generally conceded that Gomer D. Lewis, of Jermyn, Lackawanna county, would be elected state councillor tomorrow. He is now state vice councillor. John T. Wagner, the present councillor, becames junior past councillor with Charles Yahres, of Pittsburgh, becoming state vice councillor. Mayor Luther S. Crawford opens the convention, with Councillor Wagner responding. Judge J. W. Dawson also speaks. The election of officers is scheduled for tomorrow morning and the convention parade for the night.

JOHN COOLIDGE ON JOB 10 MINUTES EARLY FIRST DAY

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 11.—(AP.)—John Coolidge, son of President Calvin Coolidge, today entered upon his career as a railroad man by reporting for duty ahead of schedule.

It was 8:20, 10 minutes ahead of reporting time, when he came to the "yellow building," the roomy structure which houses the heads of departments of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad system.

To the hundreds of clerks was added John Coolidge, and his identity for a time will be submerged, from the viewpoint of the railroad, into the clerical force. He will be one of the clerks in the office of J. A. Droege, general manager of the New Haven System, whose office is the heart of train operations in all Southern New England.

Young Coolidge came to work in a blue suit, blue shirt and tie, and gray hat.

A Magnificent Memorial for Those You Love

THE officers and directors of Allegheny County Memorial Park announce to the people of Pittsburgh and surrounding territory, the completion of plans and the purchase of one hundred acres of land—of great natural beauty—which will be developed into a wonderful burial property to be known as Allegheny County Memorial Park.

The Memorial Park plan is one which eliminates tombstones. In fact, Allegheny County Memorial Park will be to all outward appearances, a beautiful piece of modern park land with drives and walks, grass, shrubbery, and flowers, lakes and fountains, all designed and executed by a reputable landscape expert and with the purpose of suggesting and emphasizing Life rather than death. Graves will all be perfectly flat and will be marked by small permanent bronze markers laid flush with the ground so that the lawn mowers pass readily over them. The purpose is to make this Memorial Park a place which will be frequented by the public who will come and enjoy its remarkable beauty and the beauty which the surrounding country affords.

In point of accessibility, Allegheny County Memorial Park is only eleven miles from the heart of Pittsburgh, requiring but a few minutes' drive from any location in greater Pittsburgh, therefore, it serves the entire metropolitan district perfectly.

Allegheny County Memorial Park is bounded on three sides by public highways and has a frontage of more than two thousand feet on Duncan Avenue Extension, a new concrete highway connecting beautiful Babcock Boulevard with the Thompson Run and Butler Plank Roads.

SALES:—Plans for Allegheny County Memorial Park include the immediate beginning of a sales program to put this property into the hands of the residents of this community in a brief campaign.

PRICES:—The best thing of all about this announcement is that due to our plan of selling the entire property in a brief campaign, we are able to offer these burial sections to the public at an extremely low price. Anyone familiar with the price of cemetery property in this or any other city will realize that this statement is quite true. Block "A" of Allegheny County Memorial Park is being offered to this community at the surprising price of $100 to $150 per lot of six graves which includes perpetual care and assurance of no assessments. Residents of the community, who have not provided for themselves or their families in this inevitable property, will be quick to avail themselves of this opportunity of securing a burial lot in this strictly modern type Memorial Park at such a low rate. Succeeding blocks will be offered at relatively higher prices. We doubt if such an opportunity will ever come to the community again.

TERMS OF PAYMENT:—A discount if all cash, or 20% down and small monthly payments to be made to The Colonial Trust Company.

LANDSCAPING and ENGINEERING:—The firm of Nicolet & Griswold, Empire Building, Pittsburgh, is in charge of the beautification program.

ARCHITECTS:—Janssen and Cocken, Century Building, Pittsburgh, have been commissioned to design and supervise the construction of the various Memorial structures.

DEPOSITARY:—The Colonial Trust Company has been appointed Depositary under an agreement dated August 2, 1928, and receives all of the money from the sale of lots. When all the lots in the Park are sold, the Permanent Maintenance Fund should amount to more than $500,000, guaranteed permanent maintenance to all lots without additional cost to the lot owner, and the Improvement Fund should amount to more than $1,000,000.

Full particulars will gladly be furnished upon request. Address inquiries to:—

B. & O. PROTESTS STREET SHIFT TO AID P. R. R.

Ordinances to cover the city's part in the produce yard expansion program of the Pennsylvania Railroad appeared in Council yesterday, accompanied by a protest from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

The Pennsylvania Railroad ordinance called for the widening and improving of Pike street from Eleventh to Twenty-first street. George M. Shriver, senior vice president of B. & O., complained that the project would interfere with the activities of his road.

Public Works Director Edward G. Lang, saying that the original agreement between the Pennsylvania and the city practically would result in the vacation of Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets north of Smallman street, urged that the plan be changed to eliminate trouble in that section where the B. & O. contemplates the construction of a larger produce yard.

ITALIAN-AMERICANS TO OPEN SMITH OFFICE

Headquarters for the Italian-American Alfred E. Smith Committee will be formally opened tonight at 409 Larimer avenue. An automobile parade will leave the new headquarters at 7:30 and proceed over the principal streets of East Liberty to Carnegie Library, Larimer avenue and Station street, where a Smith mass meeting will be held.

BEAVER-PROGRESS LINK AT CHESTNUT ST. URGED

The Planning Commission yesterday recommended to Council that a thoroughfare be constructed to connect Beaver avenue with Progress street at Chestnut street.

REAL ESTATE

The Lawton Real Estate Company sold for W. B. Lawton, Jr., to Henry K. Hathaway a lot, 102x140 feet, on Portola street, in the Rupert Park plan, on the North Side. Mr. Hathaway will improve the property with a brick residence.

Horace G. McCullough purchased from the Lawton Real Estate Compan a lot, 40x140 feet, on Delaware avenue. The consideration was $2,500. Mr. McCullough is improving the property with a $10,000 brick dwelling.

Paul T. Negley sold to Thelma E. Anderson an eight-room brick dwelling with lot, 45x100 feet, at the corner of Ferndale and Lawndale streets, Thirteenth Ward. The consideration was $9,000.

DARING ARMY STUNT FLIER DIES OF INJURIES

LIEUT. WILLIAMS DIES AT AIR RACES

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 11.—(A.P.)—Lieut. J. J. Williams, daring Army pilot who crashed yesterday in a stunt before the grandstand of the national air races, died in the Culver City Community Hospital early this morning.

Williams' home was in Detroit. His death marks the first fatality among the hundreds of fliers appearing in the air races here. For a time it was believed he would recover, but at midnight he suffered a relapse. He was 25 years old and had attained the reputation of being one of the Army's most brilliant and daring aviators. As a leader of the "Three Musketeers," a group of three Army fliers, Williams had become famous for his thrilling air feats.

His plane's motor faltered as he flashed by the grandstand and the ship crashed in full view of the 35,000 persons attending the races.

BEECHWOOD-WILKINS PLAYGROUND SOUGHT

An ordinance appearing in Council yesterday would authorize the Mayor and the Director of Public Works to lease two pieces of property at Beechwood boulevard and Wilkins avenue, Fourteenth Ward, for a playground.

CITY TO REPAY COUNTY $158,000 ON BRIDGES

Council has been informed by the County Commissioners that the city's share of the Thirty-third Street Bridge cost, $52,561, is due and should be paid. Another ordinance provided for paying the county $105,554 for piers one and four, Sixth Street Bridge.

COOLIDGE HERE TONIGHT, RETURNING TO CAPITAL

President Calvin Coolidge, en route to Washington from his vacation spent in the Wisconsin woods, is scheduled to pass through Pittsburgh tonight.

He will be met at New Castle, at 9:15 o'clock tonight by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, who is to open the Hoover campaign in Mercer county at Sharon this evening, and the latter will travel to Washington with the Chief Executive.

No plans had been made by local Republican leaders to greet President Coolidge here and the time of his arrival and departure was not revealed at local railroad offices.

ARREST FITZ HENRY HOTEL MAN FIFTH TIME

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 11—For the fifth time, county detectives say, Joseph Franco, 46, proprietor of the Fitz Henry Hotel, at Fitz Henry, has been arrested, charged with violating the liquor laws.

PITTSBURGHERS HURT BY HIT-RUN DRIVER

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Sept. 11.—Three persons were injured, by a hit and run driver, two seriously, on the Wilmington highway when their machine was struck and knocked from the road. Mrs. Mary Doran, 1061 Chambers avenue, Detroit, Mrs Jennie Black, 204 North avenue, Pittsburgh and F. E. Black, Pittsburgh are the injured. H. J. Doran escaped injury. H. K. Doran was driving the car in which Mr. and Mrs. Black and his wife were enroute from Farrell to Pittsburgh.

PRIVATE RULE OF AIRPORT OPPOSED

The municipal airport should be controlled by the city and county, the Aero Club said in a resolution sent to Council yesterday, and no private individual or corporation should be permitted to take it from the municipalities.

The club suggested the creation of an aviation commission to manage the new project.

ALIQUIPPA MOTORIST HURT IN CARNOT CRASH

ROCHESTER, Pa., Sept. 11.—Jordan Cassidy, 28, of Aliquippa, is in Rochester hospital with head injuries suffered when the automobile in which he and two other men were riding crashed into a telephone pole at Carnot yesterday. His companions were only slightly hurt.

ECZEMA IN RASH ON FACE

Child Very Cross and Fretful. Cuticura Healed.

"My baby was a month old when eczema broke out in a rash on his face. It kept getting worse, and itched and burned, causing him to scratch his face until it would bleed. He was very cross and fretful, especially at night, and kept me awake.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I purchased more, and in about a week he could sleep and his face looked better, and in three months he was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Earl Talbot, Box 143, Woodsport, N. Y., April 2, 1928.

Use Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum daily and keep your skin clear and healthy.

CITY ASKED TO RAZE SAWMILL RUN SPAN

A petition for the removal of the bridge over Saw Mill Run at McKnight street appeared in Council yesterday. The bridge is a temporary structure, and, according to residents of the vicinity, obstructs the natural flow of water in the stream, causing unnecessary damage.

Certain Facts

are still unknown about New York. For instance, many travelers think that a trip to New York means big expenses. They, of course, have never enjoyed a visit to the popular Hotel Martinique where is part of the perfect service, comfortable accommodation and splendid food afforded by this modern hotel. And as for

Economy

Convenience

The Martinique is located in the very heart of the city—"a few minutes from everywhere." On your next New York visit, let us prove to you that you can enjoy "the best without extravagance" at the Martinique.

Secretary No. 6

"Blaine—nastiest man in the company to work for—or with!" Somehow Blaine learned that that was his reputation around the office. He'd had six secretaries already, and all of them left of their own accord.

Yet he'd tried to be more considerate—to get over his chronic irritability and inefficiency; with health foods that took weeks to act—cathartics that wracked the system . . .

Feen-a-mint is different!

It's just like a bit of delicious chewing gum. You don't swallow it—you chew it!

Its magic laxative principle is released slowly, the way science meant it to be released. It actually becomes part of the digestive fluids—does not disturb digestion. It works with the body—not against it!

It won't torture you with griping pains. It won't poison or weaken the system. It won't enslave you to laxative pills. Get Feen-a-mint at your druggist's. Correct constipation—now!

PATRICIA PITT'S COMMENT ON SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Now Is Time Debutante Steps Into Social "Spot"

NOW is the time of year when the debutante begins to step forward into a place of paramount importance in the social world, a place she will keep for the next three months or so. Plans are being made and unmade every day, and some of the girls we had confidently expected to "come out" this fall have retired into the background again, and will place their names on next year's list.

The latest change in plans of which I am aware is an advancement in dates. The Taylor Allderdices and their family have come back from Cape May, where they went the first of August, and are at their Wilkins avenue home again. And now I hear that they have changed the date of Jane's coming out party from November 1 to October 23, which date falls on a Tuesday. They have decided to have a tea, instead of a buffet luncheon, I understand, too.

STILL another horse show has been inserted in the social calendar, it seems—this one the annual event of the Westmoreland Hunt. The show will be held at the Polo Field in Greensburg on September 21 and 22, and I understand that horses have been entertained from the five local hunts, Rolling Rock, Sewickley, Pittsburgh, Westmoreland and Indiana, and many from Virginia.

The youngsters will be interested to know that several classes have been reserved for their ponies and mounts, and, of course, there will be many classes devoted to saddle horses, hunters and jumpers.

The committee is composed of H. F. Bovard, J. M. Bovard, Miss Margaret Coulter, H. W. Coulter, G. R. McNary, A. C. Martin, Richard King Mellon, Torrence Miller and J. D. Wentling. Miss Coulter, who is head of the trophy committee, is planning to give a luncheon the second day of the show in the tent on the grounds, I've been told.

QUITE a few of our local folks are traveling just now, it would appear. Mrs. James Francis Burke, for instance, who just got back from Europe a day or so ago, after spending the summer at the most interesting spots on the Continent, is leaving shortly to spend a few weeks at White Sulphur Springs. Mr. Burke, who is stationed at Washington during the Hoover campaign, will be at the Springs each week-end. And just back from the Springs are the Eugene Welington Parkys, of Beechwood boulevard, who spent three weeks there. The Fleming Fells also have concluded a visit at White Sulphur.

Another who is away from home is Mrs. Leslie M. Johnston, of Bennington road, who is making a short visit at Loon Lake, and the Scott Burkes, of College avenue, are guests of Mrs. William Penn Snyder at her summer home in Watch Hill.

A WEDDING is being planned for November which is of interest both here and in the Middle West. It is that of Cora Henderson McClay, daughter of the Samuel McClays, of Devon road, and Stanley Logan Yonce, of Duluth, son of Mrs. Mary L. Yonce, of Janesville, Wis., whose engagement has just been announced by her father and mother. The wedding will be a very quiet one, I understand, with only the immediate families and a few friends there.

* * *

MRS. WALTER M. BONN, of Forbes street, will be at home Thursday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock in honor of Mrs. M. Bonn.

* * *

OCTOBER 27 is the date chosen by Katherine Wyckoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wyckoff, of the Bellefield dwellings, for her marriage to Richard Seth Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Smith, of Cleveland. The ceremony will be performed at 5 o'clock in the Episcopal Church of the Ascension and will be followed by a reception in the Pittsburgh Field Club.

MISS ROMA FERRARA, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Ferrara, of Murray avenue, has selected Wednesday, November 7, as the date for her marriage to Michael J. Catalano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Catalano, of the North Side. The ceremony will be performed at 10 o'clock in St. Paul's Cathedral.

* * *

A RECEPTION was given Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Susan Cunningham, grand electa of the Order of the Eastern Star, at her home in Somerset, in honor of Mrs. Jane M. Roberts, of Pittsburgh, worthy grand matron of the O. E. S. of Pennsylvania. In the receiving line were Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. Bessie E. Korns, of Somerset, district deputy; Mrs. Anna M. Rote, past grand matron, and Mrs. Carrie M. Criswell, grand conductress of the state.

MISS KATHARINE DUVALL JAMES, of Locust street, Edgewood, will give a bridge luncheon Friday, before her return to Wellesley College next week. The guests will include girls of the college set.

* * *

MRS. A. C. STENDER, of Black street, East End, announces the marriage of her sister, Miss Alberta P. Newton, and John C. Kaup, of Homewood, which was solemnized August 27 at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Benjamin E. Cook, in Northampton, Mass. Mrs. Stender will give a dinner at the Rittenhouse next Monday night in honor of her sister. There will be 16 guests.

AT at bridge party given this afternoon by Miss Margaret Jane Petty, of Heberton avenue, announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Mary Louise Schreiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schreiner, of Howe street, to John Hilleary Botts, of Atlanta, Ga., son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Botts, of Roanoke, Va.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the marriage of Miss Sarah Lilian Rohrer, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Freeley Rohrer, of Washington, D. C., and Samuel Wallace Shane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shane, of McDonald, which was solemnized last Wednesday night in the Metropolitan Presbyterian Church by the bride's father. Her sister, Mrs. Walter Clifford Scott, Jr., of Washington, was matron of honor and the other attendants were Miss Evelyn A. Safford, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Robert Mull, of Washington. J. M. Shane, of this city, was his cousin's best man and the ushers included W. C. Scott, Jr., the Rev. S. A. Foster, of Crafton Heights; the Rev. J. Y. Jackson, of Harrisville, Pa., and the Rev. H. C. Jeifers, of Wilmington, Del. Mr. and Mrs. Shane will be at home after October 1 in Indiana, Pa., where Mr. Shane will be ordained and installed as pastor of the Second United Presbyterian Church.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Devin, of Kendall avenue, Bellevue, of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Elsie Devin, and Thomas Bradley, Jr., of the East End, which was solemnized Saturday at 4:30 o'clock in Calvary Episcopal Church by the Rev. R. C. Garmey. Miss Virginia Thompson was maid of honor and Thomas Miller, best man. A reception followed the service. Mr. and Mrs. Bradley are taking an eastern trip and after September 24 will be at home in Bellevue.

THE marriage of Miss Mary Amelia Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson, of Union street, Swissvale, and William John Wilson, of Irwin, son of Mrs. Nancy Wilson, of McKeesport, was solemnized Saturday afternoon at Woodside Cottage, Darlington, Pa., by the Rev. W. O. Yates, pastor of the Swissvale Presbyterian Church. Miss Eva May Magnus, of Wilkinsburg, was maid of honor and the bride's nieces, Gladys Louise and Dorothy Virginia Jackson, were flower girls. Her nephew, Mark Homer Jackson, Jr., was ringbearer and John E. Jackson, her brother, was best man. Miss Relura M. Kimmell, of Greensburg, played the wedding music and Miss Alice G. Kimmell sang. A dinner followed the ceremony and later, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left for a western trip. They will be at home in Union street after October 1.

MRS. GREGG M'KEE, of Wood street, Wilkinsburg, entertained with a bridge luncheon today in the Edgewood Country Club in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Hampton Abney, Jr., of Dallas, Tex. Mrs. McKee and Mrs. Abney have just returned from a fortnight's stay in Atlantic City, and Mrs. Abney will remain here about 10 days before returning home.

OAKMONT CLUB PLANS INTERESTING PROGRAM

THE Woman's Club of Oakmont is to have an unusually interesting season beginning October 2 and continuing to May 28, when the annual luncheon will be held in the Oakmont Country Club. "Phases of Our Relations with the Hispanic American Peoples" is the subject upon which Dr. N. Andrew N. Cleven will speak at the opening session and at subsequent meetings the club will hear Mrs. Elizabeth B. Motz, who will demonstrate the voting machine; Mrs. Penelope Redd Jones, who will discuss the international art exhibit; Mrs. Thomas H. McGraw, one of the club's own members who will give readings form "Silas Marner;" Cavaliere Ginseppe Castruccio who will talk of "Italy During the War;" Mrs. Florence Fisher Parry, who will discuss current plays; Dr. John W. Oliver, whose topic will be "The Fathers and the Constitution;" Mrs. Harvey B. Gaul, who is to speak on "Trends of American Fiction," Mrs. Carroll Miller, speaking on "The Economic Fallacy of War;" Mrs. R. W. Johnston, on "International Relations;" Mrs. M. M. Redenbaugh, "The House of My Dreams," G. Dale Fleck on "Behind the Scenes in Radio;" and Mrs. A. L. Koch who will interpret a grand opera. An afternoon musicale with club presidents and families of club members as guests will be a November event. The juniors will conduct a club institute under Mrs. J. G. Chalfant, of the State Federation at the Willows the night of February 4.

Have That Footlight Sheen

By Edna Wallace Hopper

To my audiences, my hair is of everlasting interest. It always looks alive and women admire its constant sheen.

Edna Wallace Hopper as she looks today

One of my "secrets" is mere cleanliness. The fascinating glow comes from the regular use of my liquid Wave and Sheen.

I shampoo my hair once a week under ordinary circumstances. After it dries I comb it and apply Wave and Sheen. Then I place my combs in the direction I wish the waves. (My hair is not curly).

You can get Wave and Sheen at any toilet counter. The price is 75 cents. Your money refunded if you are not pleased with results.

Always tasty always pure always good GULDEN'S Mustard

"How do you get such Gleaming Floors"

"All of my friends ask the same question. You would think I were a magician, but the whole secret lies in just a small can of Old English Wax that only costs a few cents.

"It not only gives the floor a real high polish but also removes dirt better than soap and water. And it takes but a jiffy to make ALL the floors in the house clean and fresh looking—whether they are wood, linoleum, varnished, shellaced or painted. Besides, you protect the surface against scratches and wear.

"You too, can have rich looking floors by stopping at your hardware, paint, housefurnishing or dept. store and getting a can of genuine Old English Wax. Made by The A. S. Boyle Co., Cincinnati, O., U. S. A."

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

"TAKE Your Tomorrow and Give Me Today," "The Last Cigar" and "What You Gwine to Do When the Rent Comes 'Round?" are three of the songs with which the Dutch Master's Minstrels will entertain the invisible audience of the radio realm tonight through KDKA.

The Selberling Singers are back, and with Ohman and Arden, famous Broadway two-piano team, they will be featured in the weekly Selberling program to be broadcast tonight at 8:30 o'clock through WCAE.

Popular song hits of the day will make up the La Palina Hour to be broadcast tonight at 9 o'clock by WJAS.

The secred song concert from KDKA tonight at 10 o'clock is an unusual one in that the gospel songs to be heard during this program were written by composers living in the state of Ohio.

Selections penned by W. L. Thompson, of East Liverpool, O., will complete the program.

BUS CROWDED OFF ROAD; DAMAGE SUITS FOLLOW

Two suits were filed in Common Pleas Court against Robert G. Atchison, 5100 Liberty avenue, as a result of the overturning of a bus of the Hebrew Institute of Pittsburgh on the Lincoln highway near Youngstown, Pa., July 29, last. Several persons were injured, when it is alleged that Atchison crowded the bus off the road. One of those hurt, Max Goldstock, 3441 Park View avenue, wants $15,000 damages while the institute sues for $1,000 to recover damages to the bus. A caplas was issued for Atchison and bail fixed at $300.

Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl -:- Story by Lloyd Mayer -:- By John Held, Jr.

WE WANT ARAB!
ARAB!
ARAB DEAD OR ALIVE!
NOW THAT I SAVED YOU FROM THAT ANGRY MOB, WHAT DID YOUR BROTHER PROMISE THEM?
WELL-
HE PROMISED ALL THOSE BAGS THAT IF EACH ONE WOULD BRING HIM A BLUEBERRY PIE - THAT I WOULD GIVE THEM A BIT OF NECKING! ME!
John Held Jr.

"My dear, I'm so exCITed I could shell PEAnuts at this point — I mean I ACtual'y AM, because you've NEVer in your LIFE GAZED upon such a SCENE as took place this afterNOON, my dear, because I was strolling PEACEfully about the premises with that odd oaf ARab, my dear, when SUDdenly this treMENdous throng of vague WOMen who HONestly looked like NOTHing HUman, my dear, deSCENDed upon us shrieking MADly that they wanted ARab at this point—can you BEAR it? HONestly, my dear, I thought I'd have hysTERics because ARab took one LOOK at this adVANcing BILlow of POISonous Womanhood and kind of subSIded beHIND me with a faint MOAN of terror, my dear, leaving ME to bear the BRUNT of their ASsault and I mean I VOW I couldn't COPE with it, my dear, because they were brandishing TENnis racquets and things and YELPing VIVidly they wanted him DEAD or aLIVE or something, but when I'd FInally gotten them to beTAKE themselves HENCE, my dear, I was too imPRESSED because ARab broke down and conFESSED about this mysterious PROMise his BROTHer had MADE to all these shimmy-fluffers, my dear, and it seems he PROMised them ARab would NECK every ONE of them that brought this sailor BROTHer person a BLUEberry PIE—can yoo BEAR it? But what slays ARab, my dear, is that this quaint GROUP of women is the most FIENDish-looking aggregation in TOWN so ARab's all hot and BOTHered about the situation, my dear, because you see he only enJOYS necking when it's comPETItive and you couldn't POSsibly imagine anybody competing for the PRIVilege of smacking these bozos, my dear, because I VOW they look like something the CAT dragged in, my dear—I mean I ACtually DO!"

5 ZONE APPEALS REJECTED

The Zoning Board of Adjustment this morning made public its decisions in 36 cases referred to it upon appeals from the decisions of the superintendent of the bureau of building inspection. OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

LITTLE GREY MOUSE

By GERALD HUNT

THERE was a sudden crashing sound, as if a hundred dishes had been smashed to pieces. Then came a prolonged horrified shriek.

Clifford Hughes jumped up hastily from the stool where he had been sitting in front of his easel and rushed back toward the kitchenette of the little studio apartment.

At the doorway, Gretchen flung herself into his arms with squeals of fright.

"What on earth is the matter?" Clifford demanded. "Have you hurt yourself or—"

"A mouse," Gretchen answered. She was trembling in his arms. "A nasty little mouse. He was right near the sink, where I was washing the dishes."

"Is that all?" he demanded. And with a scornful toss of his head he went back to his easel. She followed him across the room.

"I won't live in a horrid place where they have mice," Gretchen wailed. "We'll have to move—"

"I should think you'd be ashamed of yourself!" he flung at her brutally. "To be afraid of a mouse! I didn't know you were such an utter coward."

Two big tears rolled slowly down Gretchen's white cheeks.

"But, Cliff, I've always been afraid of mice. They're so—so—oh, I don't know what it is, but they just terrify me."

"Then I wouldn't admit it, if I were you."

"But we can move, can't we?"

"No!" he cried, his voice raised until it was almost a shout.

Gretchen turned away.

They had been married for almost six months, and this was their first quarrel. Gretchen found, in the days following, that it seemed to mark a certain subtle, but nevertheless quite definite change in their relationship to each other.

Night after night, unable to sleep, she worried over this.

"I'm sure it wouldn't make any difference in my love for Cliff, if he were afraid of mice," she reflected.

She wished with all her heart that the little grey mouse would put in a second appearance in the kitchenette. She even went so far as to hope that two mice, or even three, or even 10 would scamper around the sink, so that she would have an opportunity to redeem herself in Clifford's eyes. Even though the effort killed her, she determined that never again would she turn coward because of a mouse.

But the place remained mouseless.

The proof that Clifford's attitude toward her had undergone a change came one evening when he was telling her about a subway jam in which he had been caught.

"I'm glad you weren't with me," he concluded. "You would have been scared to death."

Gretchen had been in a good many subway jams and had never been really frightened. But what good would it do to point this out to Clifford, who had come to believe that she was a coward?

That night after Clifford was asleep, she looked over at his dark head against the pillow and could hardly hold back her sobs.

Suppose their beautiful love had been ruined? Ruined forever? And because of a—mouse?

It was a week later when Clifford, who had been uptown to see a dealer with whom he was negotiating about the sale of some of his sketches, was late in returning home. Dusk had already enfolded the city.

As he turned the corner leading to his studio he noticed unusual commotion.

His heart pounding in excitement and foreboding, he rushed forward. His worst fears were confirmed. Flames were shooting from the windows on the second and third floors of the building where he lived.

In a mad frenzy he pushed his way through the mob and rushed toward the entrance, not even hearing the shouts of policemen. He was about to dash up the steps when an officer caught him by the sleeve.

"Where do you think you're going?" he demanded gruffly.

A neighbor who recognized Clifford elbowed his way up to him.

"Your wife's all right," he said. "They took her over there." He pointed to a house opposite. Come on, I'll show you where."

Clifford, dazed, allowed himself to be led across the street. The front door was open and the man drew him inside and knocked on a door, which was thrown back almost immediately. Clifford stumbled into the room.

Going over, he reached for her hands, and then saw that they were both done up in bandages.

"I—I got a little burned," she admitted, as though ashamed to tell him.

"A little! That's good!" exclaimed the woman who was fussing about her. "The doctor says both her hands are burned real bad, sir. And all for the sake of a few old pictures. It's a shame!

"She got away from the officer, sir, and went back. And the flames was something terrible. None of us expected to see her come out alive."

"But I got all your canvasses, Cliff. Every one," she said softly.

Clifford thought of his work of many months—all the sketches and pictures he had believed to be destroyed. It was on the tip of his tongue to ask: "Weren't you afraid?" but blushing at the baseness of such a question, he said instead:

"How wonderfully brave you were, dear! I never would have had the courage myself to go into that burning building for the canvases."

He bent over her and gently stroked back her hair, smiling down at her. The old look of contempt had gone completely, and in his eyes she saw nothing but the tenderness of love.

"I guess he's forgoten about the little grey mouse," she thought, as a tear of joy trickled down her nose.

Critical Views of Musical, Vaudeville, Moving Picture and Burlesque Presentations in Local Theaters

Better Than Victor Herbert Is the Music of "The New Moon" Which Rose in Alvin Last Night

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

WHEN Jerome Kern produced the score of "Show Boat," Sigmund Romberg must have made up his mind to see whether he could equal it. Well, he has surpassed it in "The New Moon," which was heard at the Alvin Theater last night prior to its presentation in New York. Victor Herbert at his best has not done anything better than this operetta, either in the romantic or the humorous numbers. This in spite of the fact that the libretto leaves much to be desired in what might be called the "hang-together."

It's a story of old Louisiana just before the French Revolution. An aristocrat with democratic leanings has escaped to the colony, and is pursued by royal hirelings who arrest him for murder just as he kisses the daughter of the rich ship-owner who had taken him as an indentured servant. That sounds complicated—and it appears more complicated as the plot is unfolded. Oscar Hammerstein II is responsible for the book, assisted by Frank Mandel and Laurence Schwab. They have strung incidents loosely together—a revolutionary conspiracy, a grand ball, an attack by pirates, an Utopian island, and what not? But that has nothing to do with the music, which is gorgeous, and the costumes, which make the rainbow look dim, and the stage settings, which are built with lavish and solid detail.

The music's the thing! There's a male chorus in the first act, "Stout-hearted Men," that is quite enough to start a revolution—as a chorus in "Masaniello" once started a revolution in Brussels. And the chorus that sings the chorus sings it with enough vim to create the illusion that they are real firebrands waiting for a chance to start a real insurrection. There must be some dynamite in Alfred Goodman, who conducted the orchestra with all the fervor of a Camille Desmoulins. He seemed to realize that he was dealing with music that sometimes reaches the altitude of grand opera, while in some numbers—"Love Is Quite a Simple Thing," for instance—it has the humorous ebullience of Sullivan.

And there are some voices in the cast that send this music effectively across the footlights. Both Robert Halliday and William O'Neal were vocally superb, while Evelyn Herbert as the heroine sang thrillingly.

Behind these principals was a chorus, both male and female, that seemed to think Longfellow's Psalm of Life was written especially for them—and they sang as if "life is real, life is earnest." Perhaps it was Alfred Goodman's dynamite, hurled by his baton.

Then there is the comedy purveyed by Gus Shy in his unobtrusive fashion, along with some eccentric dancing of excruciating eccentricity. He is well seconded by Marie Callahan, whose baby stare and awkward antics are irresistibly comical. Esther Howard and Lyle Evans add to the fun, which is stuck rather loosely on various segments of the plot. But, once again, and lastly, what of that? It is the music that counts in "The New Moon," in which Sigmund Romberg eclipses many of the fixed stars of the operatic firmament.

GRAND, LIBERTY CROOK DRAMA

"Forgotten Faces," a entertaining melodrama with a crook and prison atmosphere, is this week's screen feature in the Grand, and Liberty. The film story has to do with a gentleman thief, who returns home after his night's work and finds another man with his wife. After he has killed the man, he takes his baby daughter and places her on the doorstepof a wealthy family. Then he gives himself up to police. Twenty or more years pass and the father, released from prison, gets himself hired as butler in the fine mansion that houses his daughter. There he succeeds in thwarting the mother's effort to drag her daughter back to the crook world in which she was born—but not until after making work for the undertaker. The director of the picture deserves praise. Clive Brook does well as the crook father. Mary Brian and William Powell are among other featured players. Short film entertainment complete the bill in each theater.

"MARRIED LOVE" HELD OVER IN OLYMPIC

"Married Love," Dr. M. Sayle Taylor's lecture and picture presentation, is in its fourth week in the Olympic. There are daily matinees for women only. Night shows are for men only.

CROOKS, SOUND IN STANLEY

"State Street Sadie," a crook melodrama with sound effects, including some dialogue, is the feature of the Stanley's bill of screen and stage attractions this week, the picture being average entertainment of its type, as to story, and quite well done as to acting. Conrad Nagel is featured, but William Russell, leading man of other days, now character actor—and a good one—grabs just about all of the histrionic glory as an underworld chieftain. Nagel's part is that of a young sleuth who brings the other's career to an end, with the aid of a young woman, a supposed female slicker, who ostensibly is of the same stripe as the gang, but is on the side of the law. Myrna Loy gives the part a good characterization. The vocal sequences are not so frequent as to impede action. Other sound effects include a maudlin song at a "party" and sirens as the police speed to combat the crooks. On the stage Harry Fox and Beatrice Curtis present a vaudeville skit of comedy and song, and Veloz and Yolanda appear in a couple of well executed dances. The overture, "Puccinliana," is made up of Puccini bits played nicely by the orchestra, directed by David Broudy.

BUSTER KEATON IN PENN

Many persons will vote "The Cameraman," shown here for the first time yesterday in the Penn, Buster Keaton's best comedy. With a laugh in almost every foot of film, and a little touch of pathos here and there, it also has an interesting romantic angle and a novel denouement. Buster is seen as a photographer who decides he would like to make news pictures. His clumsiness develops ordinary things into grotesque comedy as new use is made of some stable comedy "gags," and their combination with novel sequences, such as a Chinese tong war, in which Keaton grinds away on his camera in the thick of a machine-gun bullet hail. A delectable bit of pantomime is Buster's depiction of a baseball pitcher at bat and in the box. Those who like furious comedy will like "The Cameraman." Marceline Day pleases as the leading woman. "Wonderful Girl," the stage attraction, is more elaborate than usual productions of its type, being a miniature musi-

PROMINENT FIGURES -:- IN PLAYBILLS -:- OFFERED THIS WEEK

Robert Halliday, leading man of "The New Moon," operetta in the Alvin.

May McAvoy appears in "The Lion and the Mouse," talking film in Regent.

George Bernard Shaw is seen and heard in the 'talkie' program in Aldine.

Conrad Nagel is featured in "State Street Sadie," sound film in Stanley.

Mary Brian has a leading role in "Forgotten Faces," film in Grand and Liberty.

Buster Keaton burlesques the news photographer in "The Cameraman," Penn.

HARRIS SHOW AMUSES

Harry Kahne, mentalist, is a novel feature of the vaudeville bill which opened a three-day engagement in the Harris yesterday. Harry juggles a multitude of figures, writes words backwards and recites poetry. But the big "kick" in his act is the fact that he does five or six things at the same time—demonstrating that there is more than one track to his mind. Audiences will enjoy the act. Clinton and Cappellano entertain with a budget of songs. Florence Enright gives some silly little sketches that get laughs aided by three assisting players, all of whom step lively and kick high. Alberts and his partner prove popular. Italian dialect and accordian playing are the chief ingredients of this presentation. The Summers Duo open the show in a novelty contribution. The photoplay feature in "Home, James," a comedy starring Laura La Piante. Laura plays a small town girl, who goes to New York to sell pictures. And she sells them, too, in the picture department of a department store. Short screen features and an organlogue are on the bill.

"LION AND MOUSE," TALKIE, IN REGENT

"The Lion and the Mouse," featuring Lionel Barrymore, is the current attraction in the Regent. This marks the picture's first showing in the East End. The photoplay offers a number of talking sequences. The story of the film, which is based on the stage play by the same name, concerns a big financier, who endeavors to bring ruin and disgrace to a prominent judge. While the financier starts the judge on the way to ruin in America, his son falls in love with the judge's daughter in Paris. Thus, the picture develops various complications. May McAvoy portrays the daughter and William Collier, Jr., is seen as the son. Alec Francis portrays the judge. Barrymore and Collier do well in the vocal sequences. Short screen entertainment completes the bill.

"STREET ANGEL" IN ALDINE SECOND WEEK

"The Street Angel," co-featuring Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, is being seen for a second week in the Aldine. A new Fox Movietone news reel is being offered in addition to other short talking film features.

The wonderful performance of RADIOLA 18 has made it a national favorite

Radiola 18 has won a place in public esteem unique in the annals of radio.

The finest broadcast receiver of its type ever offered by the Radio Corporation of America, it has met the public demand for a high quality instrument at a moderate price. This type of receiver, with its simplified operation from the house current, and single dial control, opened a new era in the design of radio sets.

It stands out as one of the great contributions of RCA, General Electric and Westinghouse to the development of the radio art.

RCA RADIOLA 18—Most popular type Radiola ever built. Finely-designed receiver of broad range and capacity for simplified lighting-current operation (A.C.). Wonderful tone fidelity. Illuminated tuning dial. Solid mahogany cabinet, walnut finish. $115 (less Radiotrons).

RCA LOUDSPEAKER 100A—Over three-quarters of a million of this type of RCA speaker are now in use. Their sturdy construction and uniformly fine performance have made them the most popular of all reproducers. $29

Any RCA Radiola Dealer will gladly demonstrate the Radiola 18 in your own home—and you may purchase it on the convenient RCA Time Payment Plan.

tal comedy in four scenes. George Riley and Helen Heller, with pleasing voices, play the leads well. Others include Teddy Joyce, Al and Ray Samuels, dancers; Paragon male vocal quartet, Willard Hall, Mairia Pauli and the Gould dancing girls. Elias Breeskin directs the orchestra in "The Merry Wives of Windsor," and Dick Leibert offers an organ novelty.

VAUDEVILLE ACTS, FILM IN SHERIDAN

Dances old and new are stepped by Twists and Twirls, six versatile steppers, who feature the three-day vaudeville bill which opened in the Sheridan Square yesterday. Norma Leslie and Monte Vandergrift present a song act. "The California Poppy and the Sap." Monte also plays several piano selections. The Cadet Sextet, a saxophone band, is another highlight on the bill. Terrell and Hanley offer a travesty. Hick types are portrayed by Murray and Maddox in a skit, "Chow." The screen feature is Laura LaPlante's newest starring comedy-drama, "Home, James." As a small-town girl, an artist, Laura goes to New York to make good. There she meets with a number of humorous adventures — and a young man. She thinks he is a chauffeur, but he turns out to be the wealthy son of a wealthy pa. Short film entertainment is on the bill.

ACADEMY BURLESQUE IS 'DAINTY DOLLS"

"Dainty Dolls" is this week's burlesque in the Academy. Frank Kramer and Joe Moss carry the burden of the comedy, and Mina Bernard heads the feminine contingent. Her stint includes a song, "Just Too Bad," and a specialty. The specialty acts of Joe Moss and Jimmie Mars are among the features. Herman Hyapp is an eccentric dancer, and he also does a monologue. Ruth Bradley and Jessie Arnold are heard in vocal numbers. The girls of the chorus appear in a march number and a rope dance.

NIXON JUNGLE FILM IN SECOND WEEK

"Simba," the picture of African jungle life, is being presented in the Nixon for a second and final week. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, explorers, spent four years in the jungle making the production.

TUNNEY-HEENEY vs. Sayers-Heenan! Sayers (English) and Heenan (American) fought the first international championship fight at Farnborough, England, April 17, 1860.

Fight fans waited up all night, as no one knew until the last minute where the fight would be.

Sayers left London in a horse box disguised as a stableman.

At dawn the ring was pitched in a pine woods. Tossing for corners, Heenan drew the sun to his back.

Sayers threw his hat in the ring. The fight was on.

Sayers drew first blood. Two early knock-downs by Heenan injured Sayers' right arm. He fought the rest of the 42 rounds with his left. The fight ended in a general row and a draw.

Each received $1,000. They never fought again.

SLATE SENATOR ON SATURDAY

A meeting of members of the Republican county committee of the Fortieth Senatorial district will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Carnegie Hall, North Side. HAVE YOU OBEYED THAT IMPULSE TO AID BABIES?

Soon the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Milk and Ice Fund will be closing for the season. Before that happens don't you want to see your name added to the list of contributors towards this splendid humanitarian project?

How about that kindly impulse you felt when you looked on your own little ones with gratitude in your heart for their safety and well being? Wasn't there at that minute a sense of sympathy for other mothers and fathers whose babies are not so fortunate as yours? Unless such sympathy is given some practical expression it amounts to nothing. Expressed in terms of dollars and cents on the Milk and Ice Fund's list it means added opportunities for good, increased hope for officials of the Milk and Ice Association, more baby stomachs filled and more baby lives saved.

The fund is open only four months in the year. The work of the association, however, goes right on during the other eight months. Won't you help bring the fund to a place where it will be effective for a few more months? Today it totals $2,173.27.

WOMEN'S CASH, GEMS, TAKEN

A thief who broke into the home of A. F. Syroth, at 1265 Termon avenue, late yesterday, looted rooms on the first and second floors and left undisturbed the third floor where Miss Rose Burns, a nurse, was sleeping. From the rooms of Miss Stella Maluti and Miss Catherine Murray he stole jewelry and $105. A small sum of money and jewelry were taken from the Syroth rooms.

Entering a building at the Lewis Recreation Center, Chatsworth street, robbers stole baseballs, bats, gloves and other sporting goods worth $75, according to police report.

SIXTH ST. SPAN OPEN FRIDAY

The downstream sidewalk of Sixth Street bridge will be opened to pedestrian traffic late Friday afternoon instead of Saturday, County Commissioners announced today.

Informal ceremonies will mark the thrown ngopen of the span. County Commissioners with other county officials will walk from the Sixth street approach across the bridge. They will meet a delegation of North Side representatives and exchange greetings. A few brief talks will complete the opening ceremonies. Charles P. Lang, assistant city solicitor, has been appointed chairman of the North Side committee.

WILKINSBURG'S CHIEF BACK

Suspended a week ago on charges of insubordination, improper performance of duty and disobedience of orders, Police Chief Wallace R. Bishop of Wilkinsburg was reinstated by Council last night.

Council, however, found him technically guilty of the last two charges and cleared him of the insubordination charge.

Burgess J. R. Langley who suspended the officer, objected to Councilmen John M. Lindsay and William Turner voting because he said they had expressed views on the case.

SUB-PATROLMAN GONE, WIFE ASKS FOR SEARCH

Missing since last Wednesday, Sub-Patrolman Thomas Zito, attached to Central Police Station, is being sought by police at the request of his wife, Mrs. Minnie Zito, of 82 Ewing avenue, Crafton. Mrs. Zito said that her husband had been worrying. She also fears that he may be a victim of foul play since he patrolled the Hill district where she believes he may have incurred the enmity of gangsters. He is a former barber.

Why Folks Get Fat
and how they lose it

Science, some years ago, found a cause of excess fat which is easy to correct. Scientists proved it on thousands of test animals, then on human beings. The results were reported in medical journals, and the use of this method has spread the world over.

Then a great medical laboratory embodied this method in Marmola prescription tablets. They have now been used for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. The use has grown to vast proportions through users telling others.

The results are seen in every circle. Slenderness prevails. Excess fat is much less common than it was. Now physicians everywhere are prescribing for obesity the chief factor in Marmola.

Abnormal exercise or diet is not required, not advised. One simply takes four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal.

The prescription is not secret. A book in every box gives the formula complete. It explains the results so you may know they are natural and helpful. Learn how easy it is to get these results if you need them. New beauty, new health and vitality come when the fat departs. Few things bring more joys to men and women than reduction by Marmola.

Go get a box and watch effects. You will be delighted.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. Any druggist who is out will order from his jobber.

The Prince of Wales — His Story

Gets Great Pleasure From Rounding Up Herds on Canadian Ranch

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

His Royal Highness, Edward, Prince of Wales, heir to the British throne, was born in 1894. Guilty of much mischief during his childhood days, he was often punished. When he grew older he was sent to Osborn Naval College and later to Oxford. During the World War he became a captain in the Army and went to France, but was not permitted to get into the actual fighting. After the war he made his first tour of Canada and then visited the United States. In recent years he has been vastly amused by efforts of match-making friends to find him a bride.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Edward P."

By WALTER and LEONARD TOWNSEND

DESPITE the formidable program he had just fulfilled, he set out upon a tour of western England. He visited Bath, made an extensive tour of the Somerset Manors, toured the mining districts, conversing freely with the miners, proceeded by motor through the variou stowns and villages of Dorsetshire (honoring the late Thomas Hardy by a visit, taking lunch with him), completing his tour at Weymouth. The north of England also had the pleasure of welcoming the Prince and in Newcastle district he put in strenuous hours visiting the mining districts, inspecting ex-service men and going over the famous factory of Armstrong Whitworth's.

PRINCE OF WALES

In the same month, July, His Royal Highness also paid a visit to Nottingham, where he interested himself in inspecting the lace factories, tobacco factories and various other large works.

Before leaving for Canada the Prince had just time to snatch a few days refreshing change on the spacious Deeside.

On September 6 the Prince left Portsmouth on the Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of France, en route for Calgary. At first the Prince had intended traveling as the Duke of Cornwall, but later he decided to visit his ranch as Lord Renfrew.

The Prince had a definite purpose in mind when in 1919 he had given instruction for the purchase of E. P. Ranch. For some years he had been studying cattle breeding amongst other pursuits on his pastures, and during his previous visit to the Dominion he had conceived a way in which he could materially assist the Western stock breeders. The Prince's idea was that, providing he could establish a ranch in the West, he could from time to time transfer surplus stocks from his own farms in the Duchy Estates of Canada. These herds were bred from the best English and Scottish breeds and would prove valuable in the Dominion. Every head on the Prince's ranch is for sale and the stock breeders are at liberty to inspect and purchase stock from the E. P. Ranch at reasonable prices.

Encourages Breeding

Though he was not primarily concerned in making profits, he hoped to make his farm pay its way, although within reason he was prepared to sacrifice provid- To this end he engaged Prof. W. ing he could encourage the further breeding of live stock in Canada. L. Carlyle, an acknowledged expert on farming, as his manager and controller. That Prof. Carlyle has been successful is evident by the many prizes his master's stock has won at shows and exhibitions. One of the Prince's best heads was "King of the Fairies"—a shorthorn bull which twice won the Grand Championship at Calgary Exhibition.

Many people might imagine the Prince's ranch to be a large palatial affair-de-luxe. In truth, however, it is very much the same as any other Albertian ranch house—small and unpretentious. The ranch land itself extends over several thousand acres; the pastures are very fine and there is ample room for farming on a very large scale in the future. The exact position of the E. P. Ranch is at Pekioko, Calgary.

Rounds Up Herds

Installed on his ranch the Prince gave himself up to complete relaxation and was an eager participant in all the usual farm jobs, from hay-making to rounding up the herds with his outfit.

It was his first view of the ranch which had been bought on his behalf four years previously, and he expressed himself delighted with the ranch itself and the progress and development which had taken place during his long absence.

The Prince did a great deal of shooting during his holiday, but he was never so happy as when, mounted on his "broncho," he was out with his cowboys rounding up the herds.

September 28 was the Prince's "At Home," and during the day over 300 neighbors paid him a visit from far and near. "Fellow Albertans, you are welcome and I hope you will enjoy your outing. My ranch is open to you today—go as far as you like." In company with their host they inspected the ranch buildings, the pastures and the herds, while the Prince conversed with them as a "Fellow Albertan." Never so happy as when amongst men, the Prince was soon laughing and joking with his visitors, but always the business element was apparent. He talked "shop" with these hard-headed ranchers and displayed his stock with no little pride. When the inevitable demand came for "snaps," he pulled a wry face and posed patiently but good-humoredly.

The Prince's holding came to an end at last, and on October 2 he left Calgary for Winnipeg, where he spent a quiet day or two on the golf course before proceeding to Ottawa.

For a few days he remained at Ottawa, spending his time playing golf, squash rackets and attending private informal dinner parties and dances. Then, on October 13, the Prince arrived once more at Quebec to board the Empress of France, which was bound for Southampton.

Benefited by Holiday

A week later he was in Southampton, and those who saw him could not but say that the Prince had benefited by his holiday. As he stepped on o the pier, he looked more virile, keen-eyed and lively than he had done for many months. Naturally, he was questioned as to what he thought of his Albertan ranch. "I am satisfied," was his verdict.

He had not been at home a fortnight before he was fulfilling public engagements in North Wales,

WOUNDED MINER DIES

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 11.—Victim of the strife in the ranks of the United Mine Workers of America, George Moran, 39, Bentleyville constable and a member of the Save-the-Union group, succumbed in Washington Hospital last night to wounds inflicted by Louis Carboni, 37, of Bentleyville, during a fight at a miners' meeting.

Seven shots were fired by Carboni, a "regular" and presiding as chairman at the meeting, when Moran is alleged to have grabbed Carboni and commenced to pound his head against the table.

Carl Glovak, 40, and his son, Theodore, aged 20, also wounded by shots fired by Carboni, will recover.

The quarrel at the meeting, authorities say, developed over the question of sending delegates to the Save-the-Union meeting in Pittsburgh.

REMINDER OF WORLD WAR

The city of Verdun, France, is holding medals for hundreds of Pittsburgh doughboys, in fact, for every soldier who was in the Verdun area at any time during the World War. With the medal comes a certificate (above) which, besides reproducing the award itself, recognizes the soldier's contribution towards the defense of that ancient French city. It was in that territory that the St. Mihiel and Argonne drives were fought. "On ne passe pas" (They shall not pass) is inscribed on the medal.

FIRST

The first Pittsburgher to receive his was David W. Frampton, 329 Ladson street. He was a private in Eighth Company, Fifth Regiment Marines, Second Division. Frampton addressed his request to "Le President des A. C. Verdun, France."

Prisoners Hunted in Hills

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Sept. 11.—Rockview penitentiary guards are searching the mountains and valleys of Center county for three prisoners who made their escape, one Sunday and two yesterday.

Roy Palmer, 20, of Bradford county, skipped Sunday while a guard and two other prisoners were repairing the reservoir on the mountain. Palmer was in for four t eight years for burglary.

Taking advantage of the absence of so many of the guards on the hunt for Palmer, Harry Fink, alias Robert Garvin, of Philadelphia county, and Lewis Marino, of Lawrence county, cut a hole through the wire stockade.

Fink was serving a five to 15-year sentence for robbery, while Marino was in for five to 10 years for entering with intent to commit a felony. No trace of the men has been discovered.

JOB HUNTING IN EGYPT; WIFE WANTS DIVORCE

Lillian R. Gruber, a Mifflin township school teacher, whose husband, Harry P. Gruber, deserted her and went to Egypt, she asserts, wants a divorce. Mrs. Gruber told Judge George V. Moore, who heard the case, that she could assign no reason for her husband's action in deserting her. He always appeared to want to go away to hunt a job. The couple were married in 1920 and separated in 1924. Mrs. Gruber is living in the village of Camden.

A Mystery; Name Him!

RECOGNIZE HIM?

Honestly, now, if you were asked, could you tell the name of the traffic patrolman on your corner, the one who speaks to you when you pass by? The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, if you can't, will help you a bit. Each day there is published the photograph of one of the city's traffic officers. Here is one for today. His name tomorrow!

YESTERDAY'S "TRAFFIC COP" WAS HERMAN E. KREUTZER, MARRIED, 3230 M'CLURE AVENUE, CHIEFTAIN OF TRAFFIC AT PENN AND HIGHLAND AVENUES. HE HAS SEEN 10 YEARS' TRAFFIC SERVICE IN 25 YEARS ON THE POLICE FORCE.

"Dinger" Flying Home

CURTISS FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 11.—(AP.)—"Dinger" Daugherty, legless, one-armed aviator, of New Martinsville, W. Va., took off for that town against the advice of flying field officials and in a plane which veteran pilots described as badly in need of repairs.

Daugherty bought the ship when he abandoned his project for a trans-Atlantic flight on the advice of his physician. He rose from the ground today without mishap, circled the field slowly and headed south. He had said his first stop would be Philadelphia.

CHURCH TRAGEDY JOINS WIFE AND WIDOW

Two women—one his wife, the other the widow of the man he slew—united their efforts and their hopes today in behalf of Attorney Fayette J. Tyrrell in the trial of Allegheny county's first "church murder."

Beneath this strange union of Mrs. Clara Tyrrell and Mrs. Hazel Clark, widow of the slain man, Philip Clark, was a foundation of friendship and faith. Mrs. Tyrrell—the wife—believes in Mrs. Clark—the "other woman."

Each in her own way, the two women prepared to help Tyrrell as the time arrived for the state to demand his life.

Mrs. Tyrrell last night told the Sun-Telegraph why her faith in Mrs. Clark and in Tyrrell was unshaken. She told it sitting with an arm about Mrs. Clark's shoulders, talking in confident, aggressive fashion, sure of herself and her friend.

"We've been friends almost all our lives," she said. "And we're friends now. All this story about Mrs. Clark and Mr. Tyrrell is nonsense. They aren't that sort of people.

"Hazel (Mrs. Clark) and I played jacks together when we were kids in Munhall, still wearing our hair in pigtails. We 'dated' together before marriage, and we've been chums since. We belong to the same church and to the same chapter of the Eastern Star.

"People have said, and it has been printed in the newspapers, that Hazel was Mr. Tyrrell's stenographer. That's created a false impression. The truth is that his stenographer was ill one day, and he asked me to get Hazel to work for him. She filled the vacancy for several days. That was all.

"I'll stand by Hazel; and we'll both stand by Mr. Tyrrell. Won't we?" she concluded, looking up at Mrs. Clark.

Mrs. Clark, a slight woman, with soft brown eyes and a slow, gentle smile, gazed back fondly.

"After what's happened, I can stand anything, I guess," she said.

Crime and Chemistry Mix in Cornerstone

Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.

IT IS interesting to note the headlines on the four newspapers which were sealed today in the cornerstone of the new George Herbert Jones chemistry laboratory at the University of Chicago.

The headlines are:

"Hunt Uale Aid In Killing."
"Special Crime Jury Impaneled."
"Three Holdup Men Raid Hotel."
"Two Caught After Bold Loop Robbery."

As a sop to science, some tracts on chemistry also were included.

5 POISONED BY SUPPOSED MUSHROOMS ON HILL

Poisoned by eating toadstools in mistake for mushrooms, five persons in the Hill district were made ill and two women are reported in a critical condition.

Mrs. Rose Ambrose, 19, and her mother, Mrs. Caroline Tortore, 35, both of 1108 Bedford avenue, may not recover. Louis Perino, 30, 1104 Bedford avenue; A. Salvatore, 30, of 1106 Bedford avenue, and John Molino, 50, of 1108 Bedford avenue, are reported out of danger.

A friend of Mrs. Ambrose yesterday gave her two baskets filled with supposed mushrooms which proved to be toadstools. Salvatore and Perino were invited to the Tortore home, where Mrs. Ambrose and Molino make their home, and shortly after eating the toadstools all became ill.

Mrs. Ambrose and Mrs. Tortore were taken to Mercy Hospital.

PATRIOTIC AMERICANS MEET AT NEW CASTLE

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Sept. 11.—Scores of delegates from all parts of Pennsylvania are here attending the fifteenth annual concention of the Fraternal Patriotic Americans of Pennsylvania, which will be in session here until tomorrow. The convention banquet will be held this evening in the First Christian Church with Judge James A. Chambers and Attorney A. M. Dehaven, of Philadelphia, speakers.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

VICTORIO TRUCKO passed through Pittsburgh the other day. Victorio is a boy of 15. The average boy of 15, passing through with an hour or so to kill, might want to look at the zoo or take a bus ride around town, provided there was no greater excitement, but Victorio was looking for a piano where he might practice awhile. He visited George Reibers in a local studio. Victorio's father teaches piano in New York and his mother teaches French and Italian to members of the Metropolitan in New York. With that parentage it is easy to see why Victorio wanted a piano. Accomplished, his parents will not allow him to appear in public.

Reversing the usual order, Miss Betsy Lindsey is a Bradford, Pa., girl who is making good in a small city. A graduate of Carnegie Tech, who later taught drama in Detroit, Miss Lindsey at the moment is interpreting Gertie McGonigle for the Waterbury players in Waterbury, Conn. She is billed as the ingenue of the Waterbury players.

She is one of many Tech graduates who are making good from the well-known coast of Maine to the something or other of California.

CHARLOTTE GILMAN, authoress, was asked in a recent questionnaire what she thought about Pittsburgh. Her answer came after the series in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph was concluded. Here is what she wrote to Roy Jansen, the collector:

"I think this: The intensively materialistic industry of Pittsburgh is social service, indispensable, invaluable social service. But if it is so done as to waste fuel energy in the extravagance of over-paid or physical energy in the exhaustion of the over-worked it is a poor job."

There might be something in that, too, as the fellow said when he didn't want to say he couldn't understand what had just been told him.

One of the hobbies of a few Pittsburghers is book-binding. It is not an inexpensive hobby. Some of the finest amateur bindings in the country can be found in various Pittsburgh homes. The hobby, of course, appeals only to persons considerably interested in books.

A spy tells us that one of the best amateur book-binders in the city is Dr. Charles Collins, a social service worker, whose home in the South Hills is stacked with volumes and volumes of worth-while books. A number of them he has bound himself. At least one-third of his collection has been autographed by the authors.

Many book-worms of the town would be delighted to see the beautiful effects of binding, aside from suffering an eager urge to read titles, prefaces and contents of practically every book in the vast collection.

MEN who like books do not always collect them. There are some who get a thrill out of lending them, knowing full well they'll hardly ever get them back. Bill Wyman long ago solved the problem of lending books and then suffering pangs because they were never returned to him. Now he simply says: "Here's a book I'm giving to you and if you don't like it return it."

* * *

Bookmen are strange creatures. We know of one in Pittsburgh who upon seeing a girl standing in a street car reading a book will not give her his seat unless he approves of the author she is reading.

Will Rogers Says

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 11.

Did you see in the paper where Gene Tunney was drinking beer in Paris and said he didn't drink beer at home because our home brew was terrible?

Now listen, Gene, you can criticise our boxing skill; you can make light of our intellect; you can denounce us as morons, but don't you make light of our home brew. You are condemning the very spirit of our American homes.

It's made by hand, not by factory. We have had nine years' practice, and we don't want to be told we can't learn anything in that time; so you stick to your books.

You may know Shakespeare, but you don't know our beer.

Yours for home industry,

WILL ROGERS.

Dundee, Edinburgh, as well as attending meetings of the various organizations and movements with which he had associated himself. The British Empire Exhibition, too, again claimed his attention and he paid frequent visits to Wembley to acquaint himself with the progress that was being made in the construction of the buildings.

In the spring of 1924 the Prince paid a short visit to France before proceeding to the Riviera, but he returned to London in time to take his place as president at the opening of the Wembley Exhibition on April 24.

The Prince had reason to be proud of his project. Before Wembley was opened there was proof in the great industrial palaces side by side with the brown mud walls of some African possession that trade would follow on a scale never known before. All the vast resources and products of the whole British empire was co-ordinated and congregated with Wembley Park.

In the speech in which the young Prince called upon his father to open officially the British empire exhibition, this fact was tersely explained with lucid eloquence. "As president, I ask you graciously to declare open to your people the British empire exhibition. . . . I hope, sir, the result of this exhibition will be to impress vividly upon all the peoples of your empire the advice that you have given to them on more than one occasion, that they should be fully awake to their responsibilities as the heirs of so glorious a heritage; that they should be in no wise slothful stewards, but that they should work unitedly and energetically to develop the resources of the empire for the benefit of the British race, for the benefit of those other races which have accepted our guardianship over their destinies, and for the benefit of mankind generally . . ." The speech was broadcast throughout Great Britain.

Sees Coolidge

On August 25, 1924, the Prince of Wales departed for his second visit to the Alberta ranch and to accept the invitation of the American President to visit the United States. Sailing on board the Berengeria the Prince arrived at New York four days later, when he received a warm welcome. The following day he proceeded to Washington to meet President Coolidge. The Prince was only in Washington just over two hours, and in order to keep his appointment at the White House it was necessary to drive rapidly through the streets in his car. The people of Washington, however, were determined to catch a glimpse of the royal visitor, and crowds congregated along the route.

Outside the White House, too, several thousands of people had accumulated in order to see the youthful guest of the President alight.

President Coolidge gave his guest a cordial welcome and after introducing him to Mrs. Coolidge and John Coolidge the little party sat down to dinner. The visit to America and Canada was again the nature of a holiday, although the Prince attended several ceremonies and functions during his presence in the United States.

The Prince indulged in an orgy of sports, both as a spectator and an actual participant. He was keenly interested in baseball, but did not show any eagerness to include the game in his "repertorie."

Although the Prince's stay in the States was not a long one, it did not lack for enthusiasm, and before proceeding to Canada to spend a short time on his ranch, the Prince sent his farewell message to the people of America expressing his appreciation of their attitude. "Your President and all his fellow-citizens with whom I have come in contact have united in giving me the right-hand of good fellowship; very many others whom I have never met have taken the trouble to write me kind words which have touched me deeply."

Likes Americans

Commenting on his visit to the United States a few days later to a friend, the Prince humorously remarked:

"I like the Americans tremendously. They treated me with national hospitality. They said I was a 'reg'lar guy' and 'Princed' me so much that I felt sure that I would eventually bark!"

When the Prnce returned from Canada he was struck with the possibilities of emigration as a means of solution to the unemployment problem in England, but he did not at any time consider that in emigration alone lay the full remedy to this question. The Prince is very much against the idea of untrained young men proceeding overseas with a view to finding work when they get there.

Discussing the question of emigration, the Prince said: "Those of us who have been overseas know how different conditions are over there. It means hard work sometimes, even harder work than sometimes, even harder work than cases the opportunities are better."

The Prince is very interested in the "back to the land" policy, but he realizes that it is useless putting men to farmwork unless they have a special vocation for it. In agricultural matters the Prince favors the small-holding system and co-operative trading principles. He is of the opinion that it is of more moment to exploit the wealth of the land than to argue about how such exploitation is to be achieved.

3 out of 5 buy "used cars"

STAND for a minute on the busiest street and watch the cars go by.

You cannot tell—nor do you ask yourself—whether the driver of any particular car is its first owner—or its second, or its third.

The automobile is essentially transportation, produced not for one purchaser but for as many as may own the car until its mileage is exhausted.

The public has realized this. More than 10,000,000 families today are driving cars of which they are second or third owners. Three out of five of the cars you see have been purchased as "used cars." And this year, more than ever before, there are great opportunities in unused transportation at low cost.

The cars accepted by General Motors dealers in trade offer a wide selection—and for the purchase of these cars General Motors extends the convenient GMAC Plan of credit purchase.

200 HARDWARE DEALERS TO BANQUET

An educational campaign for retail hardware and electrical supply merchants will be concluded tomorrow night with a banquet in McCreery's which will be attended by 1,200 dealers.

The banquet is sponsored by the Dover Manufacturing Company, Retail Hardware Dealers' Association of Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania and the Atlantic Seaboard Hardware Dealers' Association.

The speakers will include: Charles T. Johnson, president, Dover Manufacturing Company; Roy Soule, editor, "Hardware Dealers Magazine"; George E. Whitwell, manager sales and service, Duquesne Light Company and Norman D. Veam, vice president, Dover Manufacturing Company.

DEBATE ROUTE TO SCHENLEY

Various plans for the extension of the Boulevard of the Allies to Schenley Park were called to the attention of Council by ordinance, resolution and communication yesterday, the most important being the demand of the Oakland Board of Trade for a hearing on the difference that has arisen between the Bates and Wilmot street proposals.

Ordinances were presented to provide for the widening of Wilmot street between Hodge and Halket and to change other streets to make room for a traffic circle in Oakland between Forbes and the nearest route to Schenley Park.

MADE WONDERFUL CHANGE IN MOTHER

Says Pittsburgh Lady, in Telling How Ten Herbs Benefited Parent 87 Years Old.

"Although my mother is 87 years of age, Ten Herbs has made a wonderful change in her," was the recent statement of Mrs. Dorothy Partee, 832 Pennsylvania Avenue, North Side, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine to crowds of men and women.

MRS. DOROTHY PARTEE

"Mother had rheumatism so badly that for weeks at a time she was unable to get out of bed," Mrs. Partee continued. "It seemed to stiffen her arms and legs, and the pain she had was terrible. Her appetite was poor, due to the disordered condition of her digestive organs—we almost had to coax her to eat. What little she ate seemed to form in a lump, and the result was pain and belching of gas. At times she became so weak she would almost faint. Constipation caused her to be a constant user of physics. Her nights were restless, and she was really in a terrible state of health. She tried many different medicines, but her age seemed to be against her, and she got no relief.

"After reading that so many people in this vicinity were getting wonderful results from Ten Herbs, I decided to get your medicine for mother, never thinking that it was going to give her such great relief in so short a time as it has. I can truthfully say that at present she is feeling better than she has for years. Her appetite has improved, and she has a great deal more strength. Food seems to digest as it should, and her nights are more restful. She has improved in every way, and is no longer confined to bed. I am pleased to endorse Ten Herbs to the public."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

Diana's Manners Make Benny Angry After He Meets Her at Party

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

On his first day in Manor Park, where he is to apply the business methods learned in college, Benjamin Carrington Black has occasion to observe three of the suburban town's most alluring examples of femininity. Unnoticed by men, he sees Diana Rand—nineteen and pretty, enter a jewelry store with her friend, Beatrice Sheldon, whose trailing dress is reminiscent of the Gay Nineties. In the store Diana and Bea encounter Ann Evarts, a trim, petite person. Ann in Diana's roadster sees Noddy and Toddy and Norman Gregory and leaves Diana and Beatrice to join them. Bea is furious as she and Diana drive away. She is madly in love with Gregory. Norman hears about Benny being in Manor Park and looks him up. He locates him and invites him to a party at the Yacht Club. He consents to go. Bea and her brother, Freddie, prepare for the party and before leaving their parents warn them to behave like "Sheldons." Freddie calls for Ann, whose mother had just told her she must marry soon or go to work.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"MY dear, you look ravishing!" she crooned. "Really—that darling gown—"

Beatrice was cold. She said, "Hello Ann," flicked a meaning glance beyond the honey-colored head and moved away. Diana watched her step into the ballroom, throw herself into Norman's arms and dance off with him, held very close.

Ann smiled now, murmured "Dearest Diana" and would have kissed this other girl had not a powder puff been pushed into her face. The sweet lips straightened but Ann had learned good humor. "I wish," she cooed, with a slantwise look, "that I could wear such daring clothes."

Diana gave her skirts a shake, broke into a gamin grin; answered sweetly, "Why can't you? Anything wrong with your legs?"

There might have followed one of those feminine tiffs so like the shallow, clawing squarrels of kittens had not commotion suddenly raged outside the dressing room. A half dozen young men led by Noddy and Toddy were rioting at the entrance and now they began to chant in a syncopated blues beat, "We WANT DiANa! We MUST have DiANa! CHILDren and GROWN-ups CRY for DiANa!"

Shaking with laughter, Diana dropped into a farmer step, shouting words to the measure: "Get UP NaPOleon, it LOOKS like RAIN!" She fared forth and Ann, alone for a moment, permitted hatred to twist across her face.

Diana was waltzing with Norman when she saw the tall young fellow, absorbed and solitary, at a table on the club veranda. He was looking through a window into the ball room, drawing something on the back of an envelope.

CHAPTER VII.

NORMAN dropped into a flutter of quick, running steps and took her to the other side of the floor, but Diana could see the tall man peering through the crowd. His eyes were merry, brilliant with interest, and they were following Norman and herself—following her feet.

"Well, what for?" demanded curiosity. "'Course my feet aren't exactly painful to look at but nobody's ever put 'em on paper before. Maybe he's an artist and can't afford a model, or maybe . . . Though he does look pretty slick. . . .Why," she told herself with a thrill, "there isn't a man at this party—not one in Manor Park—not a single, solitary heperson I've ever seen in my life quite as all right as he seems!"

And with this she put just the bit of pressure on Norman's arm which sent him toward the window, the while she gave herself over to a happy inspection of the clear-cut profile dropped over the table, the smiling, sensitive lips, brows which arched upwards at the ends, the red-brown mop. Easy to see how his hair would wave no matter with what vigor it might be dampened and brushed smooth. . . .

They were dancing just inside the window when the stranger raised his head and sent her a rollicking, bright look. The next moment the music had stopped and Norman was bending over the sill, shaking the hand which had held the pencil, saying the bluff, lusty things old pals say to each other after long separation.

Diana waited, smiling, and brought her eyes to the envelope. Sure enough—her feet! Only much lovlier than they really were, with regular Nell Brinkley arches, so high and square, and minute, angular vamps. But the tall heels were natural enough and upon the outer side of each he had sketched a Mercury wing.

Moved by impulse, Diana put her hand over the paper and slipped it from the table, folding it neatly into a tiny square which would fit the front of her dress. Why she did this she did not know—then. Later it all was plain.

Norman presented his friend at last. "Benny Black, Di. That overgrown factory spilling smoke all around the West Side is his pet plaything. He's a good guy and—" turning to Benny, "She's the best there is. Here—dance this if you want to find out!"

He moved away, grinning, while the tall fellow swung his long legs over the sill. They glided out on the floor together, Diana Rand and Benny Black, her cheek brushing his shoulder, gray eyes smiling up into the brown ones which seemed all at once to fill with golden sparkles.

"Here for long?" asked Di.

"For good. Came to open our branch factory."

His arm tightened about her for a swivel and warmth poured along her vein. Dizzied with a strange new slightness, the girl nevertheless met his steady, interested regard, twinking audaciously.

"I do like hard-working little boys," she said.

The line along his jaw tightened. So that was what she thought of him! Benjamin Carrington Black, vice-president of Joseph C. Black & Son, a hard working little boy! Show her the difference between a business man and these empty-headed cubs. . . . Younger generation stuff—they didn't know dignity. . . .

He danced in a moody silence, aloof and forbidding until the music stopped and she gave him a smile so friendly and frank that his pride was restored. Cute little trick and straight-shooting—her eyes told him that. After all a fellow couldn't be too frozen. Couldn't trail by himself with no friends, either. . . .

In the meantime Beatrice and Norman had taken possession of a corner under the balcony, one which gave upon the dance floor and yet was secluded and there they were joined by Freddie and Ann. What usually happened at this stage of the evening happened now; Freddie called for ice and ginger-ale, produced a flask, mixed highballs. Beatrice swallowed all too eagerly, but Ann refused at first.

"Just a sip from your glass then, Freddie." And when he gave her the glass she put her handkerchief around it—returned it empty.

"Good girl!" he grinned. "'Nother?"

But she had forgotten him. Searching the crowd the blue eyes had picked out Diana—and the gorgeous stranger. Money, position—the Big Chance—she saw all of these in a single speculative glance and immediately was on her feet, balanced upon a chair, waving excitedly.

"Diana!" she called. "Oh, Di!"

Impossible to ignore that call, though Diana tried frantically enough. Benny saw the delicate figure, all pale flounces and tumbled fair curls, the little hand beckoning gaily, the childish smile. A sweet youngster, different from these others—different from Diana, likable as she was. Daintier, clad in old-fashioned charm, a fragile bit of femininity which in that very instant made him feel strong and protective, very much the lordly male.

"Your friends seem to be calling," he remarked a bit too eagerly.

Nothing for it then but take him to the crowd. Introduce his casually—"Meet Mr. Denny Black, big boot and shoe man—pride of willing workers and a mean hoofer—"

Hot with anger, he flashed Diana a quick look, overwhelmed by antagonism for the second time in the brief half hour he had known her. But the crowd merely chuckled, sensing nothing out of the way. And Ann reached down a small hand, met his embarrassment with a sweetly innocent look, asked him to help her from her perch.

"I'm a little afraid so high up—my, how strong you are! Let's sit here—be comfy—"

He found himself beside the fairy mite, enjoying something between deference and a breathless adoration. A wistful child and so delicate—how did she happen to be here, in this rough and tumble company? It seemed his duty to look out for her, to interpose his strength between her and the careless merry-making.

This was especially true when Freddie, who had mixed fresh highballs, offered the girl "a sip" and she whispered in a shocked way, "Oh, no, Freddie—I don't drink!"

Benny missed the other's grin and the amusement sweeping every face. Likewise he missed Diana's disgust—her little byplay of washing her hands. Though he experienced a twinge of pleased surprise when she, too, refused Freddie's hospitality.

"I only drink Dad's liquor," Diana added blithely. "It has the kick!"

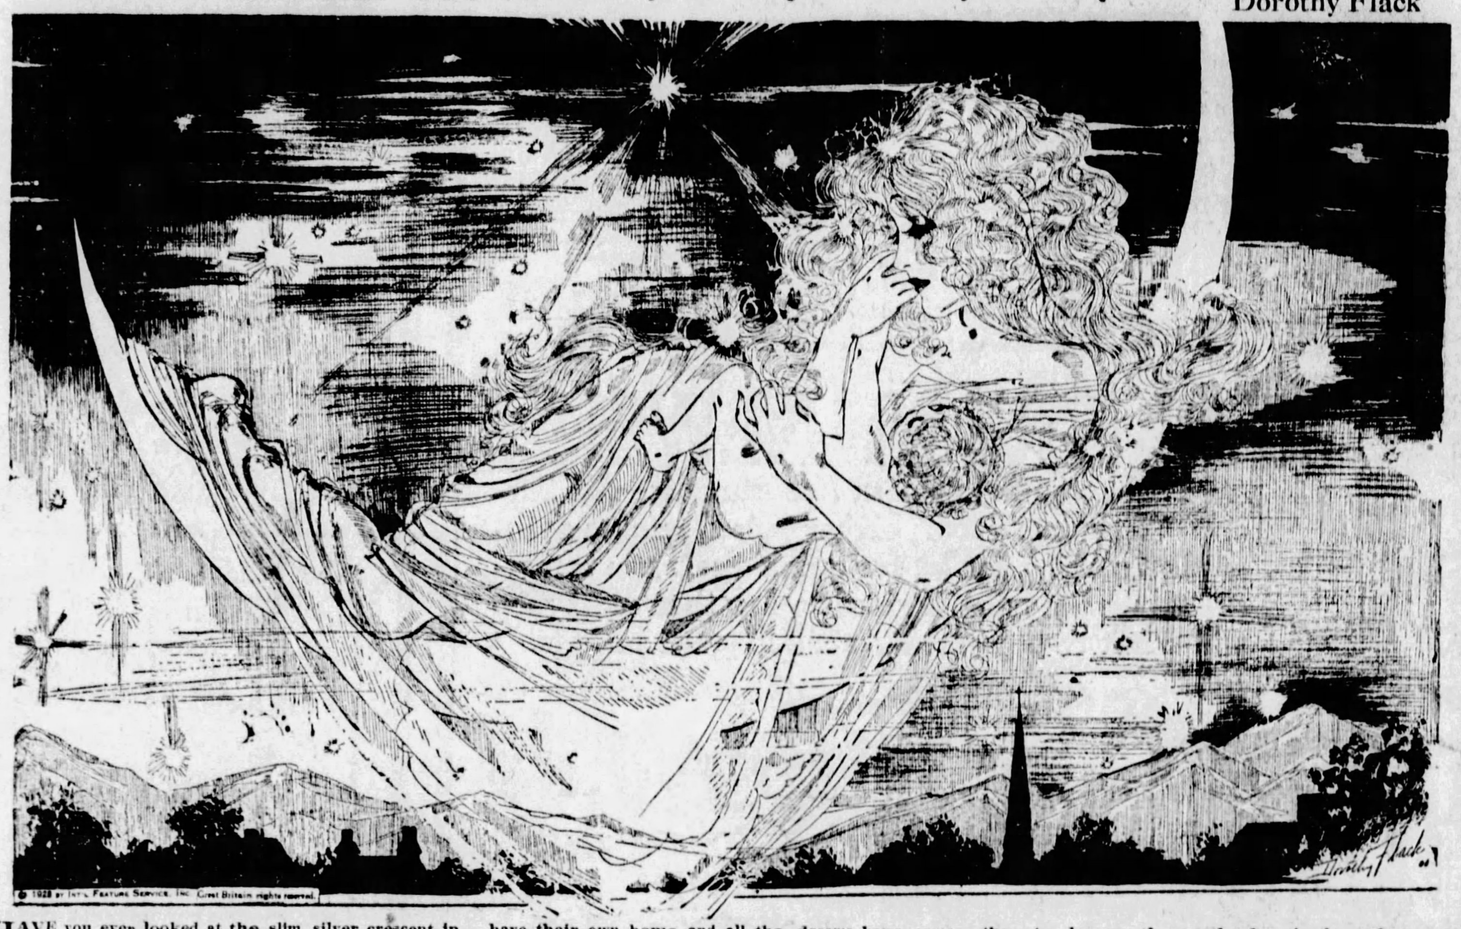
THE CRADLE MOON

Drawn by Dorothy Flack



© 1928 by Int'l. Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain rights reserved.

HAVE you ever looked at the slim, silver crescent in the sky and wondered why it was there? Well, I'll tell you what I think. You know, when the Moon is big and round and shines so splendidly on the lovers of the earth, he does it to help them find the romance and happiness which he knows they are seeking. Then, when they have found it, he fades out of the picture and they forget all about him until—well, until they have their own home and all the dreams have come true.

And then, one day, he looks down and sees the sweetest, littlest golden head nesling close to a Mother's heart, and he folds part of himself under and takes the shape of a cradle that will rock the lovely Mother and her Babe. And in her dreams she floats to her old friend, Mr. Moon, and he tenderly and carefully rocks them to sleep as they nestle close in the embrace of this new Moon, the cradle Moon.

I like to think that way up there dwells a kindly, lovely some one who watches over all lovers. And I'm sure that such a one does exist. But never, never in any of his phases is he as kindly and benevolent as when he rocks his slim, silver crescent invitingly through the heavens and cuddles a Mother and Babe close to his heart.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

WHAT PRICE BEAUTY?

JUST at this moment lots of women are waiting to learn what will be the fashionable Fall shades in hair. Copper and silver seem to be in the lead, but gold is always good with "gentlemen."

No matter what color of hair God gave a woman she always yearns to change it.

To want to improve on nature by changing your personal color scheme is the most human instinct in the world! If you don't believe it you can go way back and ask the ancient savages who used to dye their hair a bright vermillion and paint their faces until they resembled a modern beach umbrella. Or, better still, you can step right out on the avenue any afternoon at tea time and ask some of the hundred or more modern ones who are gotten up like complete works of art.

To be born beautiful saves a woman not only a lot of heartaches, but a lot of money, in these days when beauty is one of the prime necessities of life.

It is this atavistic instinct for self-coloration on which the "beauty profiteers" thrive and fatten and make their tainted—or tinted—millions.

Men are continually scoffing at the modern girl for the atrocities she commits against nature, via the rouge and the vanity case. But it is the MEN, not the women, who have turned beauty from a luxury into a necessity.

If you doubt it just offer to introduce one of them to a "fascinatingly homely" woman or to a girl with only charms of the mind and beauties of the soul. Try to make them dance with your sweet, artless little country cousin who thinks a lipstick an invention of the devil. Or with your famous highbrow friend who scorns a permanent wave and face powder.

• • •

If it weren't for the men and their childlike worship of beauty half the beauty specialists would go out of business within a week!

• • •

The high cost of beauty is what keeps half the men in this country riding in limousines and the other half with their noses to the grindstone.

Think of a poor, hard-working girl cheerfully paying two dollars for the latest shape in eyebrows, forty dollars for a hair-tint that will last only six or seven weeks, and five or six hundred dollars for a new face, complete, every year or so!

• • •

And that isn't all! If all the moans and tears of the women who have their faces peeled, starve themselves to skeletons and go through the sacred rites and tortures of the permanent wave could be collected they would make Niagara Falls sound like a whisper and look like a garden spray!

And all for what? To be charming to some man who regards beauty as a "necessity," character as a luxury and brains as an affliction—in woman!

SUBTLETY and intrigue may be expected to complexion the affairs of this day, according to the lunar conjunction with Neptune, the planet of stratagem and conspiracy. While lively conditions may prevail there will be a tendency to further the interests through diplomacy and tact rather than straight-forward methods. Combinations and mergers thrive under this sway, and curious experiences may be expected. Sign papers cautiously.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of singular experiences with propositions involving secret understandings or conspiracy rather than open-handed methods. All papers should be carefully signed. Combines and diplomacy should thrive. A child born on this day may be predisposed to subtlety and craft, attaining its end by secret methods or conspiracy. Madge Learns How the Princess Managed to Disappear

"THE elevator man never even looked at me," Princess Olina said, continuing her astonishing story, "neither did any one else—at least that I could see. But I was sure everybody could hear my heart thumping as I walked to the door where I had told Anna I would come out. She had written me the kind of car she would be in, and the side of the street where it would be parked, and luck was with me. I found it almost at once, and in another two minutes we were around the corner from the hotel.

"I knew I was safe for two hours for I'd pleaded a headache and asked not to be called for luncheon, and there was no engagement for me until later in the afternoon when I was to do some last minute shopping with my mother. And long before the two hours was up I was in the office of Henry's surgeon friend. He put bandages on my face and head as if I'd been in an accident and took me to a small hospital where he was nearly enough the whole thing so that nobody questioned anything he did. Those bandages which effectually altered my appearance were changed only by himself during the time I was there—about 10 days. Two days after I came, he "bobbed" my nose, and when I left the hospital and went with Henry and Anna to the hotel I was so bandaged that my own mother wouldn't have known me. Henry explained that I had been in an automobile accident, and so even if the detectives had come to the hotel there would have been no danger, for as I told you, Henry had told them weeks before that he was expecting his 'niece.'"

"Detectives!" I echoed, startled. "Was there a police hunt for you? How did they keep it out of the newspapers?"

"There was no police hunt," she replied. "My mother would not have had any one dream I'd run away for half the kingdom. The King of Trees would have no wife with such a scandal about her. But of course there were plenty of private detectives trying to trace me. I left a note for my mother in my jewel box saying that I was safe, and would be careful to do nothing which would reflect any discredit upon her, but that I never would come back to Transvania until I was given a solemn oath that I would not have to marry Albert. I told her that every three months on the fifteenth, I would look in the personal columns of the New York papers, and that if she wrote, 'Lina, I give you my word, Maman,' I would write to her at once where I was. She's put in messages twice, but they weren't the one I had directed, so I paid no attention to them. Then she asked Georges to come over—I fancy he was coming anyway"—she interpolated with a blush—"but he won't give me away until I get my promise from my mother."

I spent a startled second or two analyzing that involuntary flush at her reference to the journey which young Prince Georges of Trees, had made in search of her. She carefully had avoided stressing that part of her story which told of the stay of the young prince at the Transvanian court, but I strongly suspected that there had been an impassioned glamorous interlude to the stately court processional which had gone deeper with them than either had suspected. Though they were infected by freedom from the restraint of courts, and the novelty of American ideas and customs, though Georges was wooing Mary Harrison ardently, and Olina was equally impetuous in her siege of Noel's heart. I had an odd conviction that these emotions were but the frothing waves of a mill race, and that underneath ran the steady current of their affection for each other.

I knew very well, however, that neither of them would credit such an assertion for a second, and realizing that Princess Olina was looking at me oddly, I broke my involuntary moment of introspection with a hurried awkward question.

"Do you think your mother will send you that word soon?"

"I don't know," she answered, "but it doesn't matter now. If Mr. Veritzen gives me the chance on the stage he's promised me, and if I can manage something which is—terrifying—me, I'll stay here in America the rest of my life."

For the Lovelorn

Longingly

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been reading your column in the paper for quite some time and I think your advice is wonderful and that is why I have decided to come to you for a little advice.

I am going with a boy about two years my senior, but before I started to go with him I went out with different boys and found that they were all alike. They were boys that liked to take a girl out just to have something to talk about.

Now, Miss Gale, this boy that I am going with is not a stranger. Both he and I were reared in the same town, but we were distant friends until he started to run around with my brother and I learned to like him and now I love him.

This boy has made me realize what I had been doing and now I find a great change in myself.

He told me that he loved me, but I'm not positive of that because he is forever teasing me.

Do you think he really loves me, Miss Gale, if he keeps teasing me all the time?

I will be waiting for your answer.

LOVINGLY.

Most men like to tease the girls they love, my dear. Don't worry about that.

High Blood Pressure Kills Quickly

Sudden death from high blood pressure may come without warning and when you least expect it. A stroke is gravely dangerous.

If your blood pressure is above normal don't neglect it, but go to your druggist at once and ask him for a large bottle of Lithurie Salts. By taking it every morning you will free your system of those poisonous waste products which are now being absorbed and are causing untold harm. Uric acid deposits will be removed, the bowels gently but thoroughly cleansed, the liver stimulated to do its work properly and digestion corrected. Reduction of blood pressure should follow and you'll feel healthier and look better. Lithurie Salts makes a pleasant effervescent drink; costs only 85 cents, and beneficial results are guaranteed or you can have your money back.

How to Keep Well

Service Has Found Cure for Club-Foot

A NEW-BORN baby has before him a hard enough life even if he enters the world perfect in form and function. But when he is born with some defect in body or limb, his chances for trouble have been multiplied manifoldly.

Byron, beautiful in face and figure, was ruined in spirit because he had a clubfoot. This particular deformity is not so serious now as it was in Byron's day, because the medical profession has found ways of dealing with it. The poet was embittered by his unrelieved defect, but now there are mechanical or surgical means of cure. In most instances, nowadays, there is no excuse for sadness or sourness of disposition on account of this deformity, bad as it is.

DR. COPELAND

There are various forms of clubfoot, or "talipes" as the doctors call it. "Talipes equinus," as the name indicates, is a deformity where the victim walks on his toes, just as the horse does. The heel is drawn up and the sole of the foot is directed backward.

This position is taken because the muscles at the back of the leg are shortened, so that the heel cannot be brought to the ground. Walking on the balls of the toes produces callouses there.

The most common form of clubfoot is called "talipes varus." In this variety the foot is bent forward. In consequence, the victim walks on the outer side or edge of the foot.

In "talipes valgus" the natural arch of the foot is absent. The foot is bent outward, and the walking is done on the inner side of the foot.

There is a rare form of talipes in which the toes and front of the foot are drawn upward. On this account it is necessary to walk on the heel.

The flat-foot is really a form of talipes. The arch is lost and the foot sags flatly against the floor. This may not be a congenital defect, but may be acquired. During the war it was surprising how many victims of flat-foot were discovered in the draft examinations.

The secret of successful correction of clubfoot is early attention. Manipulation and well directed exercises may correct some cases. Mechanical devices like braces, special shoes, or strapping may relieve. Sometimes operation may be required.

I know what it means to the parent to submit his child to operation or to require him to wear an uncomfortable brace. The easiest way is to go along, hoping the trouble will right itself.

But it is not fair to the child to permit this neglect in youth. The time will come when he will reproach his parents for failure to act in his babyhood.

Submit the clubfoot to the examination of an able specialist in this branch of medicine. When he has advised, follow his instructions to the letter. There are very bright prospects that early treatment will overcome the deformity, or, at least, make it so much less that it is no longer noticeable.

Answers to Health Queries

J. L. R. Q.—Has smoking or shaving anything to do with pimples? How can these and blackheads be cleared up?

A.—Shaving is often responsible for blemishes on the face. Proper diet and regular elimination are the principal factors when looking for treatment.

M. S. Q.—What will clear up pimples and blackheads? I am a young woman of 20 and am greatly troubled with these blemishes which form under the skin?

A.—The excessive use of powder and cold cream will tend to coarsen the grain of the skin, making it easy for dust and grime to enter the pores. Watch your diet, avoiding too many sweets and keep the system clear.

BUCS AFTER SECOND VICTORY OVER CUBS TODAY

Yanks and Macks -:- Renew American League -:- Tug of War Today

Defeated in both ends of the double-header Sunday, the Philadelphia Athletics resume their crucial series with the New York Yankees at the Yankee Stadium today. A game also is scheduled between the teams tomorrow. The A's took the league lead on Saturday, but Sunday's double defeat threw them a game and a half behind the New York outfit.

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Good Chance for Macks in West if They Even Yankee Series—Pirates May Pass Giants and Cubs in Present Fighting Form. Cards' Lead Dwindles.

THE Yankees and Athletics continue to hold the center of the sport stage today with the resumption of their big series in New York, for though the Hugmen gained a huge advantage by grabbing both ends of Sunday's double-header the fight is not yet over by any means and there is still a chance for the A's to come out of the engagement with an even break to their credit.

Herb Pennock.

If the Macks have the morale to come back and win today and tomorrow, they will be in first place again, and the pennant fight will narrow down to the question of which team can make the better showing on the final Western trip.

IN THE event the dope will favor the Athletics if past performances may be taken as an indication of how the rivals will perform on the road.

For on the first two Western jaunts the Philadelphia club had all the better of the argument as compared with the Yankees, as while the Gothamites played barely above the .500 mark, losing 14 games against 15 victories, the A's traveled at a .700 clip by winning 21 games against only nine defeats.

BESIDES, the New York team will not be so well fortified on the final Western trip, as it was on the first two unless Herb Pennock recovers from the attack of neuritis in his pitching arm and is able to take his regular turn on the mound.

If the Yanks had Pennock at his best they would be sitting pretty now, not only for the remainder of the series with the Macks, but for the remainder of the struggle.

THE loss of the star left-hander was the most serious blow suffered by the world champions this year and had much to do with their slump. Pennock, with a record of 17 games won and only six lost, has not pitched since August 12, when he shut out the Redsox with only three hits.

THE Pirates gave further evidence that they are still in the fight for second place by staging another exhibition of coming from behind and beating out the Cubs yesterday in a rather weird game that involved a whole flock of pitchers.

The Bucs are three games behind New York and only three and a half lengths behind Chicago, but in view of the spirit with which Manager Bush has them fighting there still is a good chance for them to pass both clubs in spite of the shortness of the distance that remains to be traveled. Incidentally the whole race, even for the pennant itself, was tightened by the third straight defeat of the Cardinals. Their lead is becoming less impressive.

Douglas McWeeny

WHEN a snappy double play on a ground ball kills off a chance for the scoring of runs, the disappointed followers of the batting club call it poor hitting, while the supporters of the defensive team look upon it as great fielding and praise the infielders who participated in it for their great work.

Douglass McWeeny, the Brooklyn flinger, declares that both sides overlook an important factor in the two-ply killings. He gives fast infielders due credit for their share in the double plays, but insists that the pitcher plays an important part in them by creating the opportunities through heady and clever hurling.

"LOTS of times when a pitcher is in a jam with runners on the bases and none or one out he pitches low and tries to make the batter hit the ball on the ground so that a double play may result from his drive," McWeeny is quoted.

"If a low pitched ball is hit to the shortstop or second baseman and a double play is made the fielders, of course, get the credit. The fact that the way the pitcher threw the ball had a

CARMEN SLATED TO FACE MALONE

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—The traveling Pirates today were eager to make their Western trip profitable by winning the last battle of the excursion.

Coming from behind yesterday to defeat the Cubs, 7 to 5, the Freebooters were quite confident they could turn the trick again this afternoon and thus return home with a card showing four victories and two defeats. This, it must be admitted, would be quite an achievement, in view of the competition encountered and the fact that the Buccos lost their first two fights.

HILL TO TWIRL

Manager Bush, of the Pirates, announced this morning that Carmen Hill would pitch this afternoon in the last clash of the season with the Cubs. Hill has had only two days of rest since he tamed the Redbirds on Saturday, but he will have plenty of time to relax after today, as the Freebooters do not have to play another championship game until Friday, when they meet the Reds. On Thursday the Boston Red Sox will play the Buccos at Forbes Field. Tomorrow will be an idle day for them.

The Bushwhackers looked like real champions yesterday as they downed the pesky Cubs. It is true that Boss Bush had to go to unusual lengths to cop the battle, but the week will not be so tough on the club on account of a break in the schedule; therefore the manager had no hesitancy in sending his star flingers to the mound.

Altoona Pat Malone is due to face the Pirates in the last clash, so the Pirates are not figuring on anything soft. Pat is generally tough enough for the boys from his home district; nevertheless the Freebooters are back in a fine hitting stride and should be hard to check.

Burleigh Grimes, the last of the Pirate trio of righthanders to oppose the Cubs yesterday, was one

NAMESAKE OF FORMER PIRATE STAR

Remember back in the good old days, when Ed Morris was a pitching mainstay for the Pirates? Well, here's another Ed Morris making his mark as a big league pitcher. They call him Young Ed to distinguish him from Old Ed, who now is connected with county road department. Young Ed may be seen in action when the Red Sox oppose the Pirates at Forbes Field Thursday. Old Ed, by the way, pitched for Pittsburgh in three leagues, in 1885-6 in the American Association, 1887-8-9 in the National League and 1890 in the Players' League. He was a southpaw. Young Ed is a righthander.

CANADIAN IN STRONG BID FOR MEDAL

NEWTON, Mass., Sept. 11.—(AP.)—In spite of a mediocre round, featured by poor putting, George Von Elm, of Detroit, former titleholder, by carding 79, seven over par, assumed an early lead today in the national amateur golf championship qualifying test. With his 73 of yesterday he had a two-day 36-hole total of 152.

Von Elm was out in 38 and back in 41. His putter was completely out of order, especially on the fifteenth, where he took three putts from a distance of 10 feet. His partner, Fred Wright, of Boston, took an 80 and his two-day total of 154 put him temporarily in second place. Both scores were safely within the qualifying fold.

NOTES OF THE BOXERS

BENNY BASS' comparatively easy victory over Harry Blitman in their bout at Philadelphia last night certainly was a big upset of the dope. Blitman has been such a consistent winner since he came out of the amateur ranks, while Bass seemingly has been slipping during the last year, that a triumph for Blitman generally was expected and he entered the ring the favorite to win. Harry's recent one-sided victory over Tony Canzoneri, the featherweight champion, who won the title from Bass, also swung sentiment in his favor. Bass' greater experience in the pinch evidently had much to do with his surprising return to form against his youthful adversary.

Garfield Johnson and Mule Brown, local Negro boxers, are in New York training under the direction of George Engel, former Pittsburgher, who also is arranging bouts for them there.

The success of the Jolly Bowl in New Castle has inspired a rival coterie of promoters to enter the outdoor field, even at this late stage. The new club will stage its first show Friday evening at Centennial Park, the baseball field, with Emmett Rocco, the Ellwood City

BASS KAYOS BLITMAN IN SIXTH ROUND

Comorosky and Jablonowski Make It the Great American Sport

Benny Keeps State Crown

By HARVEY J. BOYLE,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—Benny Bass, Philadelphia featherweight, knocked out his fellow townsman and natural rival, Harry Blitman, in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night. A rabid crowd of Philadelphia partisans, which paid a record gate for a non-championship bout in the state, sat pop-eyed as one of the most intense dramas of the modern ring was unfolded.

Behind the generally futile blows of Blitman and the successful thrusts of Bass there was a background of bitter animosity between their respective managers, Max (Boo-Boo) Hoff and Phil Glassman.

FIGHT FOR "CAUSE"

There was far more then the $25,000 paid to each boxer last night to spur the boys into spirited action. Each was fighting for a "cause." The said cause being the "satisfaction" of the rival managers.

Glassman and Hoff, once boyhood pals and now despising rivals, were the motivating influences aside from money consideration or ring prestige, which sent the pale but determined Bass against the sour, disdainful Blitman last night.

With such roots and crop that came out of the fistic pasture last night could have been no different than it was. Action the like of which the most case-hardened and most blase of ring worms had never seen in modern times, marked every fraction of a second every inch of the way.

The minutes of fighting, so intense and acute was the action, seemed as seconds. Spectators, charmed by the amazing tableau presented, could hardly realize at the end that they had witnessed five rounds and a fraction of a sixth.

A red trickle was seen flowing from the right eye of Blitman. "Blitman's eye is cut!" yelled the ringsiders, and as a strange echo there came another thunder of voices to say, truthfully "And Bass is bleeding, too, from his right eye." In one exchange each boxer suffered a cut over the eye.

Bass came out on top in the first round and demonstrated he was not to be befuddled by the unorthodox southpaw pose of his enemy.

BLITMAN STUNNED

A series of rights and lefts sent Blitman a-staggering. Favoring first the stomach, then the jaw, Bass drove a confused and raging Blitman from one side to another.

Came a right-hand sock to the jaw, and down went Blitman. He was not out, but he was surely stunned. Shaking his head to clear a brain that was plainly puzzling him, Blitman rose to one knee as the referee reached five. At six, at seven and at eight he was recovering, and just as he made ready to get up at nine, the gong sounded which spelled a minute's respite.

In the third Blitman, acting under instructions, weathered a well-determined, yet cautious, attack directed by Bass. In the fourth Blitman sagged behind once again, but not dangerously.

In the fifth, for a fleeting second or so, the tide of battle seemed to change its course. In that round it was Bass who was startled, like a wounded deer, by a crushing left hard to the heart, that made Bass actually run away, affrighted.

HARRY GETS KAYO

That was Blitman's last and only chance. Bass came back strong and was good enough to return a series of blows which sent Blitman, still grim, but staggering slightly, to his corner.

In the sixth, the fateful sixth for Blitman and his local prestige and for Hoff and his thwarted dream of conquest, Blitman went down for the full count of 10, but not until after he had given every scintilla of strength in every atom in his body, desperately tried to respond to an inward urge to keep on fighting.

A righthand crack to the jaw, sent him reeling. A left to the stomach made him stagger. There goes another right to the jaw, but gropingly, somehow, Blitman evades that. But the relentless Bass, now not to be denied the bitter sweet of a knockout pursued him, imbued with the spirit of a vendetta. A right to the jaw and Blitman starts to pitch forward. Bass steps away awaiting the result, but Blitman finds his legs, and then Bass rushes in his strength, aside from a blow, is now enough to effect a knockdown with just a shove, but he gets in close, carefully, like a marksman picks his spots, and at last Blitman, goes down out quite unconscious.

BLITMAN NOT DISGRACED

I suppose there will be many who will feel sorry for poor Blitman today and quite a few who will cheer for Bass.

But Blitman need not fret over distasteful and misdirected sympathy for in his gallant stand last night he established a new high mark for sheer gameness in heavy going. As for Bass, relentless conqueror that he was in the heat of battle, he was a gracious victor at the end.

I have never seen a better exhibition of ring stuff and I believe that sentiment will be echoed by all those privileged to be witnesses.

Blitman is still a great fighter in the estimation of all who saw him. His chief drawback was inexperience.

Bass must be given great credit for the magnificent way he upset the dope, that a southpaw boxer is hard to handle. The glamour of the prize ring took on a more attractive hue with the dramatic battle between Benny Bass and Harry Blitman.

WILLIE DAVIES EASILY DEFEATS CARPENTERO

NEW CASTLE, Sept. 11.—Willie Davies, Charleroi flyweight, gained the decision over Luis Carpentero, Filipino, in the 10-round windup at Jolly Bowl here last night.

Howard Mayberry, of Duluth, obtained the decision over Al Lovell, of Toledo, O., in the semi-final. George Compton, of Rochester, won over Bobby Belford, of Alliance, O., in the third bout. Tom O'Leary defeated Johnny Haggerty, of Pittsburgh, in the second bout, and in the curtain raiser Terry McManus, of Pittsburgh, was awarded the decision over Tony Canzoneri, of Cleveland.

KING AFTER NET TITLE

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 10.—(AP.)—About half the responsibility for keeping the National tennis championship from falling again into the hands of the French rested today on the burly shoulders of Dr. George King, of New York, 35 years old.

It was transferred there from the shoulders of Johnny Hennessey yesterday, when the doctor sprang a surprise and defeated the Indianapolis youth. Having beaten Hennessey 7-5, 6-4, 6-4, King today was a favorite to reach the semi-final round, where his opponent undoubtedly will be Henri Cochet of France, the leading candidate for the title. King was matched today against Percy L. Kynaston, of Rockville Center, N. Y.

LOCAL SIMON PURES WIN OVER UNIONTOWN

of the big factors in annexing the success. It is true that the Pirates were still ahead when Kremer departed in favor of the spitballer, but the inning was the fifth, and it was up to Burleigh to hold the advantage. He was able to do this, and the official scorer decided that he was more entitled to the triumph than Kremer, so Burleigh was duly accredited with his twenty-third victory of the season. He worked hard in the four closing frames to make the game secure, the Cubs being unable to score in these frames.

NEHF GETS HOMER

Art Nehf and Brame were on the slab at the start of the contest, and right well they did for two rounds. In the third Nehf surprised 15,000 fans with a homer into the right field seats that also scored Hartnett. The two-run advantage looked nice to the Chicago supporters, but it wasn't long before the Waner boys started to do their stuff.

Lloyd and Paul opened the fourth with singles, and Traynor, Comorosky and Wright followed with hits. Brame also batted safely in the inning, five big runs going over in the excitement. Carlson relieved Nehf in the inning.

The first three Cubs to face Brame singled in the home half. Kremer replaced the younger pitcher and stopped the advance, the Bears making only one run. Remy made Pinch-Hitter Webb hoist a pop fly to Traynor with the bases loaded and one out.

Hazen Cuyler's remarkable throwing cut into the fourth-inning rally of the Pirates when he chucked out Fred Brickell at third. In the fifth the Buccos opened up on Percy Jones, four clean hits producing two more tallies. Another fine throw by Cuyler cut a run down at the plate, else the Pirates would have had a bigger inning.

Kremer hit Cuyler with one out in the fifth, and Heathcote and Stephenson followed with a single and double, the long drive scoring two runs. Grimes went to the rescue of Kremer with two out and the bases filled. Joe Kelly batted for Jones, but Grimes made him hit a weak roller to Adams. The Bears couldn't do much after that moment, and the Pirates failed to score any more runs, Root and Blake finishing up on the mound.

STOGIES TRIP BARONS, 8-1

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 11.—Bill Thomas limited Fairmont to six hits here yesterday and the Stogies evened the series with an 8-1 victory. The locals drove Dean from the box with five runs in the first two innings. Cousins, who relieved him, pitched good ball in every inning except the sixth, when Wheeling got to him for three runs. Onlythree blows had been made off Thomas up to the ninth inning.

The score:

Wheeling	1	4	0	0	3	0	0	4	—	8

YES, you can feel the difference as soon as you put Waverly All-Pennsylvania Motor Oil in the crank case.

The motor becomes amazingly cool and quiet, it conquers that "impossible hill" and eats up the miles on the straightaway with remarkable ease.

There is plenty of power and speed in these new high compression motors, but lubrication that lags behind means destruction to the motor at such hot speeds.

Waverly is on the job 100% because it is always All-Pennsylvania Petroleum refined to perfect purity. It pays to use Waverly.

Drain your crank case....fill it with Waverly Motor Oil....and forget the motor for many, many miles of perfect performance.

Nats May Trade Harris, Bluege To Detroit

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—It was rumored today, without confirmation, that Manager Harris and Third Baseman Oswald Bluege have been offered by the Senators for Second Baseman Charles Gehringer, of Detroit, the trade to be made at the end of the present season. Purchase of Guy Cantrell, Baltimore Oriole pitcher, was announced by the Washington president, Clark Griffith.

DEMARCO WINS OVER JACK KATKISH ON FOUL

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 11.—Sinking a hard right into Cuddy De Marco's groin in the third round of the bout here last night, Jack Katkish, of Pittsburgh, was declared the loser on a foul. DeMarco crumpled to the floor in pain and after a short rest announced that he was unable to continue.

Battling Gizzy, of Donora, won over Andy Stahura, of Swissvale, in six rounds. Harry Spencer, of Washington, knocked out Steve Weldon, of Fayette City, in the fourth round of a six-round bout. Andy Novak, of Pittsburgh, was awarded the decision over Jackie Griffith, of Pittsburgh, in six rounds.

CUBS' PILOT REFUSES TO CONCEDE CARDS FLAG

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—Asked what were his views on the National League pennant race, Joe McCarthy, Chicago Cubs' manager, said he could not grasp the experts' prediction that the St. Louis Cardinals would win. "What does it mean to be two and one-half games out of the lead?" McCarthy asked. "The Cubs can overcome that in three days."

Women Tie For Medal

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

THE sensation of yesterday's busy day in golf was registered at the St. Clair Country Club when the popular Peter O'Hara, of the Westmoreland Country Club, shattered the course record into smithereens, shooting a 66 on the par 71 layout, hitherto only equalled once, and that a record. Despite the fact that Cecil Barbour, handsome Monfour Heights pro, and Emmett French, Youngstown national light, equalled par for second place, they apparently were poor seconds to Pete with scores that easily topped the field in last year's competition. It was a magnanimous feat, and O'Hara scored just about as phenomenally as has been chalked up in tournament play in many a season hereabouts.

WOMEN DEADLOCKED

At the Allegheny Country Club, Miss Anjeannette Hunter, of the Stanton Heights Golf Club, runner-up last year, and Mrs. C. I. Wendt, Pittsburgh Field Club champion, tied for the medal honors in the qualifying round of the annual women's Western Pennsylvania championship, the first round of match play of which is being staged this morning over the Allegheny Country Club layout. They have 89's, and were two strokes better than Mrs. W. G. Boggs, who was next in line. Mrs. J. Raymond Price, former champion, used 94 in her round.

Mrs. J. Bernd Rose, of Allegheny, was not on hand to defend her championship. Six sixteens were made up from the large field, and these will continue at match until the final round is reached Friday.

In the afternoon competition at St. Clair, an amateur-pro 18-hole best ball affair, Charley Rowe, veteran Oakmont pro, and Tom Caron, former St. Clair champ and Pittster, captured high honors with their 64.

A. R. Geyer won an event among St. Clair amateurs with a net 75.

TOURNEY FLOP

The slated Caddie-masters' Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania tournament was a chill at the Hill Crest Country Club, only a few of the boys showing up; this was due, mainly, to the fact that the big pro event was being held at St. Clair.

J. A. Ralston copped the honors in the United States Steel Corporation tournament at the Edgewood Country Club, with a gross 79. J. L. Bernard's low net of 77 won him high laurels, also.

Today the Bell Telephone Managers' Association is holding a one-day tournament at the St. Clair Country Club; the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, open their national team championship, the Sandusky Company is entertaining at the Ambridge Country Club, as well as the women's play at Allegheny.

The annual invitation tournament of the Pittsburgh Field Club opens tomorrow and continues for three days.

heavyweight, meeting Al Friedman, of Boston, in the main bout.

Jules Beck, the Duquesne promoter, has called quits on the outdoor season following his bad break on the weather with his Ike McFowler-Jim Sigman show last week. He has given up the proposed Jack Duffy-Terry Ingo show, planned for next Monday night.

Johnny Mellow will leave Detroit tonight for McKeesport, where he boxes California Joe Gans in the windup of the opening show of the indoor season Thursday night. Allen Beatty and Jack Unglo have been matched for the semi-final, and Mike Hogan and Dave McConnell for the second preliminary.

Fidel LaBarba, former flyweight champion, and Bushy Graham, former claimant of the bantamweight title, box at Los Angeles tonight.

Tiger Payne, Negro light-heavyweight star, and Joe Monte, of Boston, meet in a return bout at the Queensboro Stadium, New York, tonight. Monte lost on a foul in a previous meeting with the Tiger in Madison Square Garden. Andy Di Vodi and Jack McFarland box a 10-round preliminary.

Frankie Genaro and Steve Rocco, who recently fought a draw in Canada, meet in a 10-round return bout in Detroit, October 5.

Joe Glick boxes Jackie Shupack in a 10-round bout at the Passaic (N. J.) baseball park tonight.

Jock Simco, of McKeesport, was one of the judges at the Benny Bass-Harry Blitman fight at Philadelphia last night.

Cuddy DeMarco has canceled his bout with Sylvan Bass, of Baltimore, at Cumberland tomorrow night. He is matched with Larry Brignolia at Erie, September 21, and with Bucky Lawless in the same city, September 28. He recently defeated Brignolia at McKeesport.

Irish Gorgas, former middleweight and light-heavyweight boxer at Lawrenceville, who died Sunday night as the result of a fractured skull received in a fall last Friday, was one of the most popular boxers with the fans ever developed in the Lawrenceville section. He was known as "Rooster" Gorgas for his peculiar jumping and flapping style of fighting. He met Harry Greb, Al Grayber, John (Hon) Foley and others in the Power House and Waldemier Hall. He quit boxing about 10 years ago.—HARRY KECK.

lot to do with the making of the double play is overlooked. But just the same the pitcher made it possible for the two outs to be made and he deserves some credit, even if he did not handle the ball while the double play was being made.

"THE Reds and Cubs have a tight defense in our league. Their pitchers know that when they are in trouble their chances of getting out with a double play will be favorable if they can make the batter hit the ball on the ground. What do they do? They pave the way for a double play by pitching low. They know the batter will have a tough job getting the ball through the infield if he hits a grounder. They can pitch low to low ball hitters and get away with it because of their good support. Burleigh Grimes is a wonderful pitcher. He has won a lot of games in which he didn't get many runs. But he has won some games when his support was such that he couldn't lose even though he was not close to his real form. Grimes is on a team that carries a pitcher along to victory when he is having a tough day. So is Larry Benton."

WANER GAINS ON HORNSBY

Batting at .500 for the day, Paul Waner yesterday increased his margin of leadership over Rogers Hornsby in the National League batting race to eight points. Waner got a pair of hits in four times at bat, while the Rajah hit safely only once in six attempts. The day's performances raised Waner's average a point to .382, while Hornsby's dropped three to .374.

Try LIFEBUOY Shaving Cream!

Its double-dense lather ends tenderface

HERE is an entirely new kind of shaving cream that assures a quick, clean shave without the usual after-shave discomfort.

Tenderface is usually caused by friction—the rough scraping of razor over skin. The only way you can end this friction is by complete lubrication.

Ordinary lather cannot give this complete lubrication. It is too light and frothy. Lifebuoy Shaving Cream lather, however, being of double-dense consistency, hugs the face so closely that a thoroughly lubricated shaving surface is formed. You get an amazingly smooth shave—yet your razor scarcely seems to touch you.

Lifebuoy Shaving Cream contains the same antiseptic ingredient as Lifebuoy Health Soap. Keeps skin clear, smooth and healthy.

A lasting lather

Men everywhere comment on Lifebuoy's lasting lather—a lather that stays fresh, moist and thick until the end of the shave.

ROUND TABLE of BUSINESS

Westinghouse Business Improving, President Herr Reports — Rapid Development Makes Predictions Uncertain.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

"THE business of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company is showing improvement over a year ago," said President E. M. Herr here on a visit to the plants in the Pittsburgh district yesterday.

"Reports from our branches throughout the country indicate that the outlook for this fall is good in all territories. But although we expect improvement for the balance of the year there is no reason to anticipate a boom in business.

"Volume in the present year will be considerably better than in 1927.

"WHEN anyone starts to talk about the future development of the electrical business," continued Mr. Herr, "I always wonder if he knows what he is talking about. Nine years ago no one expected the growth of radio.

"We knew that radio transmission was possible but we had no idea of the possibilities of broadcasting. The Westinghouse company here was responsible for our first efforts at broadcasting through Station KDKA.

"In this short space of time," Mr. Herr pointed out, "the radio business has grown from practically nothing to one amounting to $500,000,000 a year."

MR. HERR commented on the remarkable growth of the power industry in this district in which the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company has played an important part. From 1913 to 1928 the installed capacity of the power plants of the Duquesne Light Company and the West Penn Power Company has increased from 116,215 kilowatts to 759,835 kilowatts. The number of consumers has grown from 70,791 to 428,235.

NOT only are more people and industries using electricity but the consumers are each using more power. The average kilowatt hour sales to customers has grown from 290 to 1,580 a year in the 15-year period.

The total consumption of kilowatt hours per annum has increased from 417,500,000 to 2,570,000,000. The peak load has been developed from 50,000 kilowatts to 500,000 kilowatts.

THE interconnection of power plants has made possible a growth in sales of power which was much greater than the increase in the capacity of power plants. This development of superpower has taken place throughout the country so that a shortage in power at one point may be met with surplus production many miles away.

Mr. Herr stated that the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company has spent $40,000,000 on plant extensions and improvements during the past six years. Increased efficiency has also made it possible to get a greater production out of existing plant facilities so that it is unlikely that any great investments will have to be made in factories for some time.

"THE making of electric lamp bulbs offers a good example of this increased efficiency," said Mr. Herr. "Sales were growing to such an extent that in the past it was necessary to build a new lamp factory nearly every year. Up to five years ago constant changes were being made in the design of lamps so that it was impossible to produce machinery which would not be replaced within a very short time.

"Since then the design of lamps has been so perfected that few changes have been made and we have been able to improve manufacturing methods. As a result of this we have not built any new lamp factories for five years and may not for several years more, although the business has grown at a more rapid pace than in the past.

"Costs have been reduced to such an extent that one or two cuts in lamp prices have been made each year."

WHEN asked about the replacement of workers by labor-saving machinery Mr. Herr pointed out that the purchasing power and leisure of labor are being increased so rapidly that new markets are constantly being opened for products unheard of a short time ago. This expansion is giving employment to the surplus.

"Industry has no problem in finding markets for its output," concluded Mr. Herr. "If the price can be made low enough by efficient manufacture, the buyers can be obtained."

156th Dividend

THE regular quarterly dividend of Two Dollars and Twenty-Five Cents ($2.25) per share will be paid on October 15, 1928, to stockholders of record at the close of business on September 20, 1928.

H. BLAIR-SMITH, Treasurer.

STOCKS SHOOT UP AS BUYERS GO WILD

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—(AP.)—Wild speculation for the advance was resumed in today's stock market after an early period of irregularity. Extreme gains in the pool specialties ranged from 3 to 14 points, with at least two score issues pushed into new high ground for the year, or longer.

Uneasiness over the credit situation, which accounted for much of the early selling, disappeared when word was passed around that a plentiful supply of call money was available at the renewal figure of 7½ per cent, and that the rate was likely to hold for the rest of the week. Time money rates continued firm, with the 7 per cent asking rate maintained for the short maturities. Expectations of gold imports from London failed to materialize, although cable dispatches from London indicated that such shipments were likely in the near future.

Sale of a New York Stock Exchange membership at the record breaking price of $410,000 was one of the most interesting developments of the day. Except for the publication of several favorable earnings statements, there was little in the day's news to influence the price movement. Revival of activity and strength in some of the oil shares was associated with reports that Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, would have an important statement to make on plans for the world curtailment of crude on his return from Europe on Friday.

Montgomery Ward, in which Arthur W. Cutten, of Chicago, and his associates are reported to have amassed fortunes of several million dollars, was again a spectacular feature. The stock soared 10 points to a new high record at 264, as again a low of 117 earlier in the year. American Machine and Foundry jumped 14 points, Motor Products 13, Commercial Solvents 11½, American Snuff 10½, Warner Bros. "A" 8½, Radio 7¾, General Electric 6 and Union Carbide 5⅞, nearly all of them to new high records.

Substantial gains also were recorded by the Advance Rumely issues, International Nickel, National Biscuit, Loose Wiles Biscuit, Purity Baking issues and Case Threshing Machine, all up 5 points or more. The sudden outburst of strength in Butterick was based on expectations of a substantial increase in earnings as a result of the higher advertising rates, effective January 1.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The cotton market opened steady today at a decline of 7 to 12 points under heavy and more or less general selling inspired by relatively easy Liverpool cables, talk of more favorable weather conditions in the south and the bearish sentiment created by the government crop report last Saturday.

Extensive trade buying at the 18-cent level for October, as well as covering, was readily supplied and stop orders were uncovered as prices broke below that level, active months soon showing net losses of 20 to 27 points, with October selling at 17.95c and March at 17.75c. Selling tapered off somewhat at these figures and there were rallies of a few points from the lowest, but the market was still nervous and unsettled at the end of the first hour.

Private cables reported general selling in Liverpool and said the Manchester cloth market was unsettled with a disappointing turnover in yarn and cloth.

There was enough trade buying and covering to cause rallies of 5 or 10 points from the lowest, but the demand was listless, and offerings increased again later in the morning. At midday prices were at about the lowest, with October selling at 17.94c and March at 17.73c, or about 23 to 28 points net lower.

UANSA IS STAR IN PANTHER DRILL

WINDBER, Pa., Sept. 11.—A blistering sun made things warm for Pitt's gridders yesterday as they staged a long scrimmage to initiate the second and last hard week of training here.

Toby Uansa, the McKees Rocks star, who is making a determined bid for a berth, uncorked some clever footwork yesterday and ran through the baffled second string.

The Panthers are in good shape and will get plenty of hard work during the remainder of the time here.

CARNEGIE TECH

With Capt. Howard Harpster back on the job, a team selected by Coach Wally Steffen will meet its first stiff test of the preliminary training season when it stacks up against Coach Al Irwin's Carnegie Tech plebes this afternoon in the Tarton bowl. The scrimmage is expected to get under way at 3:30 o'clock.

Harpster seems to have completely recovered from an infected foot which kept him on the sidelines for several days. The Tartan leader took part in yesterday's drill and said he felt none the worse off after the strenuous exercise.

When Coach Steffen's picked aggregation faces the Plebes today Dreshar and Lovewell are likely to be found at the guards, Schmidt and Highberger at the tackles, Rosensweig and Sweet, Mielzinger will probably be at center, Eyth and L. Flanagan at the halves, Harpster at quarterback and Karcisat fullback.

WEST VIRGINIA

JACKSONS MILLS, W. Va., Sept. 11—Despite a mid-summer 90-degree temperature in the shade, Head Coach L. E. Rogers staged a 60-minute scrimmage between the West Virvinia University Varsity football squad and the Mountaineer Yearlings yesterday. In this, the first intra-club clash of the year, the Varsity scored several touchdowns and relinquished the ball only three times, twice on fumbles and once on downs. Capt. Keefer and Louis Varney, his sophomore understudy, crashed through the Plebe line for consistent gains, while Eddie Bartrup and Ed Stump, sophomore halfback, put off the fireworks which consisted of six runs of 20 yards or more. Stump passed brilliantly and in general conducted himself as a real ball-toter should.

ALLEGHENY

MEADVILLE, Pa., Sept. 11.—The Allegheny College coaches are well pleased with the development of the football squad in the first week of preliminary training. The squad is large and contains the possibilities providing a powerful eleven. Among the candidates are about 15 veterans and some 35 Freshmen.

Among the new men, Berger, of Homestead; Nick Verano, of Vandergrift, and Harry Dennison, of Meadville, have been performing brilliantly on the backfield. On the line it is hard to name particular stars. Koeniger, of California; Smith, of Grove City, and Lally, of Sharpsville, are staging a real battle for the pivot position. All of them are smart players and Allegheny will not want for centers.

DUQUESNE

Nine football elevens were sent through long scrimmage sessions at Duquesne yesterday. Seven teams made up of green players took turns at supplying two combinations of veterans with opposition. Kirby at tackle and Kelleher at guard showed mid-season form on the line, and McCarthy and Burns appeared to be the class of the backs.

WASH.-JEFF.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 11—Inauguration of scrimmage by the varsity and launching of the initial practice by the Freshmen marked the opening of the second week of football practice at W. & J. yesterday. Between 40 and 50 yearlings reported to Coach Bill Amos. a

SANDLOT BASEBALL by TOM BIRKS

WILL the mad dash of the Reliance Life aggregation pennantwards be fruitless after all? That is the question the sandlotters are asking themselves after Hermes-Grove handed a neat coat of whitewash to Book Shoe on Saturday afternoon. The answer will come this evening when the final game of the City League is played.

Hermes-Grove's fight to cop the second half championship will receive the acid test this evening at Dean field, when the leaders play Pleasant Valley. The Dairymen are leading Reliance Life by half a game and must win this evening to eliminate the Insurance boys from a playoff. Manager Carson will have Leon, Cabby and Snee to select his pitcher from, while it is understood that Nary is all set to pitch for the Wilson Park outfit.

Manager Ottie Cochrane of the Reliance Life team picks an all-star team, and naturally after piloting an outfit close to the top should have an opinion that bears weight. This is his team. Shortstop, Murphy, Reliance Life; first base, Besterling, Book Shoe; second base, Welsh, Hermes-Grove; third base, Mitchell, Civics; left field, Heyl, Hermes; middle field, Semler, Stowe; right field, Rooney, Civics; catchers, Bierworth, Book Shoe, and Kenny, Pleasant Valley; pitchers, Snee, Hermes, Heidler, Civics, and Spencer, Reliance Life.

That's his team, suit yourselves.

After this evening's game, which starts at 6 o'clock, the only thing left in sandlot baseball will be the City League post-season series. These games will be arranged as soon as the winner can be named this evening.

PHILLY FANS SEEK TICKETS FOR SERIES

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—(AP.)—Despite the fact that the Athletics are still running second to the Yankees for the American League pennant, Philadelphia fans are clamoring for world series seat reservations.

So numerous are the applications that the management of the Athletics today inserted a notice in the newspapers that no application for world series seats would be accepted before September 20. "Further announcement will be made," the notice said.

CHILLY SAUCE By CHILLY DOYLE

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—The Pirates looked like themselves with Glenn Wright going at his normal speed. Since the Missouri spreadeagle returned to the lineup, the team has wrested three hard games from two fine club, and Glenn's bat has figured in each triumph.

Hazen Cuyler yesterday was close to three spectacular assists on three of the fastest runners on the Pittsburgh club. Cuyler nicked Brickell as he tried to go from first to third on a single; a few minutes later he stopped Sprout Waner, who essayed to score from second on a hit, and on the very next play he tried to stop Traynor at the plate, but the toss was a bit wide and Pic might have been safe anyhow, as he had a "two-out" start from the middle bag. The brilliant throws of the Michigan speedboy had the crowd up and shouting. It was a great exhibition of throwing.

Brother Paul came through with two sizzling hits and registered another fine gain on the Rajah. Apparently Paul is set to make a strong finish and needless to say, every man on the team is pulling for him to retain his crown. There is a naturalness to the Waner boys that makes them popular everywhere.

Sprout, the younger, remains the same country boy who came up from the tall and uncut not so very long ago. The stage folks are after the Oklohomans again, but Lloyd is none too strong for the bright lights. An offer of an eight-week tour at a headline price, fails to budge the little centerfielder. There is a chance that the two will appear for a week in Pittsburgh, but Lloyd is trying to escape the other seven weeks. He says the rest is more important and apparently he is using fine judgment to view the matter in such a light. Sprout thinks he did not have sufficient rest last year. He wants to go to the quiet of his dad's farm in Oklahoma when he finishes with the diamond this year.

The Wrigley institution will reap another golden harvest at the local orchard this year. The million mark in attendance already has been passed. If the Cubs could get hold of one or two more fleet fellows who could hit, they would be in a fine position to cop next season. Joe McCarthy, however, thinks his team still has a good chance to finish in front this year.

The Cardinals have had plenty of trouble in the past few days, but they seem to be the kind of a club that will shake off their slump. They lost possession of first place when the Giants were in St. Louis, but they are still two and one-half games ahead of the Cubs, who, by the way, are just shading the Giants by a faint margin.

TIGER STAR ARRESTED

DETROIT, Sept. 11.—(AP.)—Harry Rice, centerfielder for the Detroit club of the American League, was arrested at a hotel here today on a non-support complaint made by his wife in St. Louis. His arrest was at the request of St. Louis police. He was to be arraigned here on a fugitive warrant.

circles, and he was in the doubtful class. Adding a 79 today to his 80 of yesterday, Fownes finished with 159. Samuel M. Parks, Jr., of Highland, tied with Fownes at 80 yesterday, went out in acreditable 37 today, but required 44 strokes on the in nine and finished with an inglorious 81 and a two-days' total of 161. R. L. Babcock, of Oakmont, eliminated himself by adding an 87 to his 81 of yesterday.

Ross Somerville, Canadian champion who shoved himself into the spotlight with a brilliant 72 yesterday, was off to a fast start with a birdie three on the first hole and 4-4, even par, on the next two. He missed a four-foot putt on the third green in his bid for another birdie.

Somerville finished his outward journey in 37, two over par. He got most of the mistakes out of his system on the short sixth, pushing his tee shot into the rough, then overshooting the green and finally taking 5, two over par.

MACKENZIE OUT

Roland Mackenzie, young Washington star and Walker cup player, who had a bad 88 yesterday, completely dissipated what slight chances he had to qualify by losing three strokes to par on the first six holes.

Jess Sweetser, big New Yorker, and 1922 champion, with a 78 to work on, got into a peck of trouble at the third and took 7, including three putts.

Sweetser finished the outward nine in 39, four over par, as he steadied down but he was in a position where he could afford to waste a few strokes.

Watts Gunn, needing to show something after his 89 of yesterday, went out in 32.

George Voigt, in a tie for the lead at the start of the second round, got a bad start when he hooked his drive from the first tee and took six on the par four hole. He got one of the strokes back with a birdie three at the second and played the third in par four.

Pay Taxes Now and Avoid Final Registration Rush

If you have not registered for the November election, and need a tax receipt as a prerequisite, now is the time to obtain it. Many waited until Wednesday, September 5, to go to the delinquent tax office to qualify for enrollment on the first registration day, Thursday, September 6, with the result that the collectors were swamped and some citizens had to stand in line for hours before they could receive attention. A day or two earlier the transaction would have been a matter of a few minutes. It is such a matter now, but delay until the final day will put taxpayers to the same trouble experienced by those who got into the rush September 5.

The first registration day was a record-breaker. So will be the second, Tuesday, September 18, and the third, Saturday, October 6. To register a citizen must have a tax receipt. Obtaining one is a formality that is attended by least personal annoyance by acting promptly. Delay means trouble greatly multiplied. If the business of the tax office is distributed over the days between now and September 18, there will be no difficulty for anybody, but if it is all left to be attended to September 17 many will have their corns stepped on, their tempers ruffled and their time wasted. This is eminently a case of "do it now."

They MUST Express Themselves

Even Bathing Suits Have Something to Say.

CHARMING LITTLE FRENCH GIRLS—VERY.

The interesting thing about this picture, apart from beautiful faces and pleasing shapes, is the ornamentation of the bathing suits.

One lady spreads across her front a proud peacock. The other has a sailing ship, and above it the words "La Fregate," which means "The Frigate."

This sailing ship emblem is presumed to indicate that the young lady can also go far out to sea, metaphorically speaking, on the sea of imagination and daring.

American girls might apply this decorated bathing suit idea in an American way, in a fashion to express their particular abilities and aspirations.

The girl of motherly inclinations might have a nice little baby embroidered on the front.

The romantic girl could have a cupid with bows and arrows. The girl with the voice with a smile could express herself with an embroidered telephone, and the young ladies that are the backbone of American business could wear typewriters neatly reproduced.

The editor apologizes for cutting away part of the legs in this photograph. It is done to save space. You may take our word for it that the lower halves are in keeping with the upper halves.

A Nice Little "Home"

Mr. Wiggin's Chase National Bank has a new little home, just behind the Treasury Building in New York. Its steel vaults, built five stories under ground, have doors that weigh 90,000 pounds each, with steel and concrete walls eight feet thick.

Moving from its old building, the bank took along THREE BILLION DOLLARS' WORTH of securities and cash.

Banking has become a real business. Serious bankers ought not to injure their business, driving control of the world's money market from New York to London, by encouraging usury. They are making money fast enough, especially those that earn 100 per cent a year.

Question Respectability?

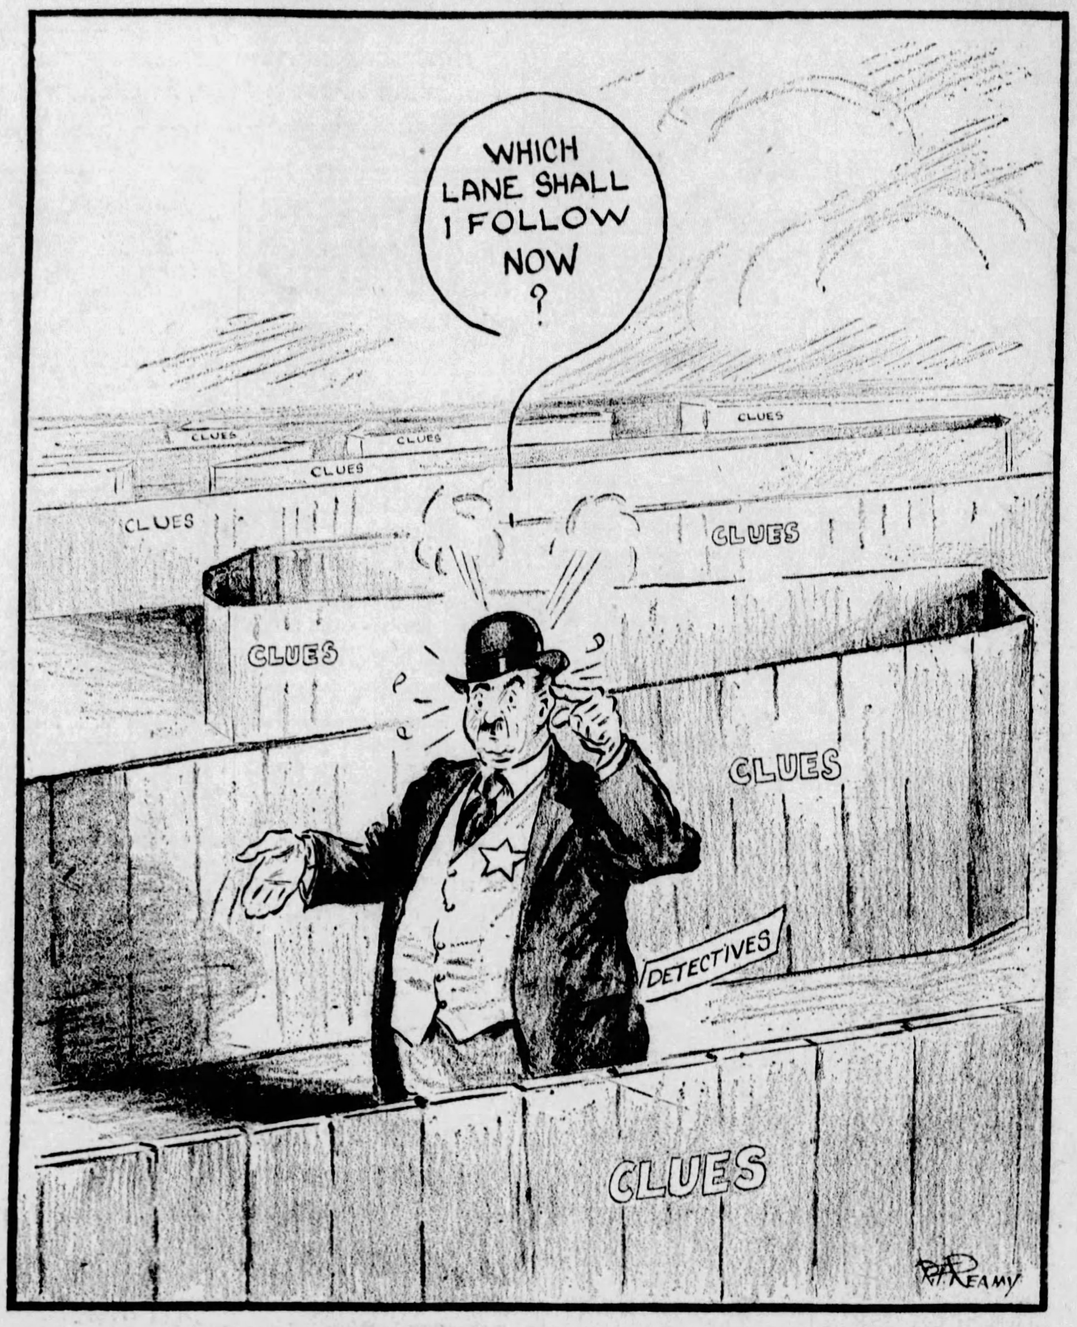
What's the World Coming To?

Agents of Mrs. Willebrandt, able young assistant attorney general, subpenaed highly respectable people caught in New York bootleg resorts. Respectable is really a feeble word, for some young gentlemen subpenaed have a background of tens of millions.

Mr. Raskob, present head of the Democratic National Committee, says subpenaing these young gentlemen is "an insult to liberty."

It would be all right, presumably, if you locked up a few workmen caught drinking beer, and playing pinochle in some resort less "respectable." But to lock up, or even question the sons of very rich men, that would be going TOO far. The champagne class must be respected at $25 a bottle.

THE "DAPPER MAZE"



O. O. McINTYRE

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 11.—Every writer has picked on Hollywood as the modern Sodom and Gomorrah. Some of it is true, but most of it is a part of the legend. The popular notion is the Hollywoodite spends his mornings removing gin bottles from the kitchen sink. And wondering who he shot last night.

There have been wild orgies here just as there have been in New York, Palm Beach and Herrin, Ill. But my impression of Hollywood is not so much of high jinks as thwarted hope—a land of frozen dreams where thousands stay on and on awaiting the lucky break that never comes.

A few moving picture stars live far back in the Hollywood hills, but a greater number reside in Beverly and other snooty suburbs. Hollywood proper is chiefly the haven of down-at-heel extras, mothers who have brought daughters to seize the Big Chance, character players and small shops.

During the day they go from one casting agency to another, and at sundown collect in the cafeterias and lunchrooms for food and the warmth of a little friendly contact after the rebuffs and chilly receptions of the day.

There is a touch of that pathetic helplessness of sheep awaiting slaughter. I am told any number have been here for as long as ten years without once receiving the slightest recognition. An unknown who acquires sudden fame serves to fan the dying flame of enthusiasm.

Every all night debauch ending in murder in southern California is stamped as a "Hollywood Orgy." Yet there is no densely populated community so absolutely dead to the world after 10 o'clock as this. Most of them must arise at sunup to be off to the studios.

This is not a defense of the motion picture colony as a whole. Some of their capers have deserved the pitiless publicity received, but the idea Hollywood itself is a wild, wicked city is just another American myth. It is not even "citified." Most of the wild parties are in the big hillside palaces and canyon castles.

On every corner of prominence in Hollywood there is a pop-corn or peanut stand, and there is a circus day effect among the scores who stroll along munching from paper bags. Every once in a while a hyena-like half circle of strollers clots at the entrance of a restaurant or shop. News has gone out that some movie celebrity is inside, and they await his exit. This goes on all day long.

Hollywood is interested in nothing but various phases of movie life. It is not ungracious to the outsider, merely not interested. Shopkeepers leave no stones unturned to secure patronage of a star, for that means the patronage of his or her followers. A hair dresser, meat shop or jewelry store is "made" by an autographed photograph of a Mary Pickford in the window indorsing the wares.

* * *

A modest scenario writer lived for months in a Hollywood apartment house without forming a single acquaintance. Then a message was received one day by the telephone operator for the scenario writer to call up Cecil De Mille. That night the proprietor met him at the door with a low bow. There were six invitations from other tenants for dinner in his mail box. He had suddenly become a personage.

* * *

A serio-comic slice of Hollywood is seen among those who believe a berth in the movies may be won by some outlandish get-up in dress. There are spinsters with curls to their shoulder, wearing short gingham skirts and half socks; mail order cowboys, lads tanned with walnut juice, and goose-greased hair; girls with monocles and swagger sticks, and the most curious assortment of misplaced eyebrows posing as mustaches in the world.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Alesia

THE educational fashion of the day turns its back on "classical studies," so that relatively few of the present undergraduates and recent graduates of our schools know anything about Caesar's campaigns in Gaul, and when they go traveling in Europe they lose the thrill that the students of earlier days felt, and still feel, on finding themselves in the neighborhood of Alesia, the famous Gaulish town on a precipice-crowned hill where Vercingetorix took refuge with his liberty-loving countrymen and for long months defended himself and them against the might of conquering Rome, led by the mightiest of Roman conquerors.

Today I revisited the hill of Alesia, in Burgundy, which I first saw some twenty years ago. I found its interest greatly increased by the excavations that archaeologists have since been making on the hill top on whose verge stands the towering bronze statue of the Gaulish hero looking down upon the scene of the rout by Caesar of the immense hosts that had gathered from all Gaul to attempt his rescue.

Around the hill, as "classicists" remember who read the dramatic story in their school days, the Roman general constructed two parallel lines of trenches and fortified points, thirteen miles in circuit. One of these faced inward to hold the besieged; the other outward to keep off the would-be deliverers. Caesar was outnumbered five to one, but he led the disciplined soldiers of Rome, while the unorganized mass of the Gauls, in which a thousand independent wills conflicted like teams of wild, untrained horses, was unable to make its courage supply the lack of co-ordinated fighting under the eye of a single, magnificently competent commander.

This great victory contributed more perhaps than the subsequent easy triumph over Pompey to make Julius Caesar the master of the world, "bestriding" it "like a Colossus." As long as mankind continues to hold the terrestrial view of the greatness of these things Alesia will be a star-marked spot on the earth. When Napoleon III was writing his "Life of Julius Caesar" he had excavations made in the valley surrounding the hill of Alesia, and discovered the actual trenches of Caesar, which, seen in cross-section, were startlingly revealed by the different colors and character of the soil which had gradually choked them up in the course of 2,000 years. In them coins dropped by Roman soldiers and other telling relics were found.

I was disappointed today on being assured that the excavations had now been refilled. It is an immense pity. It was one of the most dramatic sights that archaeology has ever brought to light.

But on the hilltop where the ancient town of the Gaul's stood, and around whose verge ran their rude line of fortification, the spade of skilled exploration has uncovered a wealth of remains of buildings and other works belonging mainly to a little Gallo-Roman city that grew up after the conquest, on the site of Vercingetorix's town, and then was buried by the passing ages and forgotten until our day. It has its theater, its forum, its cemetery, its baths, its Gallo-Roman deities, which are now to be seen in a little museum, together with human skulls and skeletons, among which modern anatomical science professes to distinguish the heads of the Romans from those of their conquered subjects, who were taught to follow Roman fashions. For the thoughtful tourist with his automobile, who still reads history and does not assume that the present age is the only time worth thinking about, a visit to Alesia will be as interesting as it is instructive.

Don't Protest Too Much

YOU have, perhaps, had occasions when you felt it necessary to assert your innocence of something for which you expected to get the blame, unjustly.

In no way responsible, but the known facts pointed your direction.

You are tempted to go unsolicited to some person and declare you are not guilty of something of which you have not as yet been accused.

Don't you know that would look suspicious?

Why should you feel any uneasiness if you are not guilty?

You are worried about gossip.

But if you have done nothing of which you should be ashamed, you need to get proper control over your feelings or you may precipitate conditions that would lead to humiliating questions.

It is unwise to place yourself where there is an appearance of evil.

But, having gotten into the surroundings, don't take a chance of getting the blame by such a foolish thing as denying it before you are accused.

Perhaps your actions have been too independent of public opinion.

You can't afford to do anything which may indicate you are not just right.

It's foolish to think your standing will protect you.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

Secure

THERE is always so much of good
Wherever men may fare,
Its currents form a crystal flood
To drown each loss and care.

There is always so much of trust
That with each morning's sun
The rose of joy still springs from dust,
Hope's web again is spun.

There is so much of love always
(One shield no blow can break)
No grief, no fear can vex the ways
Your feet or mine must take.

Doubt not, nor question as you go
The issues yet to meet;
Since such swift currents heavenward flow,
Life cannot but be sweet.

Great Passages from the Bible

Solomon and the Queen of Sheba

(II. Chronicles, 9, 1-12)

AND when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon, she came to prove Solomon with hard questions at Jerusalem, with a very great company, and camels that bare spices, and gold in abundance, and precious stones: and when she was come to Solomon, she communed with him of all that was in her heart.

And Solomon told her all her questions: and there was nothing hid from Solomon which he told her not.

And when the queen of Sheba had seen the wisdom of Solomon, and the house that he had built,

And the meat of his table, and the sitting of his servants, and the attendance of his ministers, and their apparel; and his ascent by which he went up into the house of the Lord; there was no more spirit in her.

And she said to the king, It was a true report which I heard in mine own land of thine acts, and of thy wisdom:

Howbeit I believed not their words, until I came, and mine eyes had seen it: and, behold, the one half of the greatness of thy wisdom was not told me: for thou exceedest the fame that I heard.

Happy are thy men, and happy are these thy servants, which stand continually before thee, and hear thy wisdom.

Blessed be the Lord thy God, which delighted in thee to set thee on his throne, to be king for the Lord thy God: because thy God loved Israel, to establish them for ever, therefore made he thee king over them, to do judgment and justice.

And she gave the king an hundred and twenty talents of gold, and of spices great abundance, and precious stones: neither was there any such spice as the queen of Sheba gave king Solomon.

And the servants also of Huram, and the servants of Solomon, which brought gold from Ophir, brought algum trees and precious stones.

And the king made of the algum trees terraces to the house of the Lord, and to the king's palace, and harps and psalteries for singers: and there were none such seen before in the land of Judah.

And king Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba all her desire, whatsoever she asked, beside that which she had brought unto the king. So she turned, and went away to her own land, she and her servants.

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

WOMEN get by with a lot by acting innocent. You know, especially with the traffic cops. Women got them guys kidded most of the time.

But they tell me the state police in Pennsylvania is so hard-boiled that way that the ladies don't get away with much.

There was a really good-looking little woman driving a great big car around a mountain road in Pennsylvania, and as she went around one curve, the hind end of the car swung out over a gorge, but the front end was going so fast that the hind just naturally had to follow it back onto the road.

Just then a state trooper stepped out and stopped her.

"See here, lady, you can't get away with that kind of driving!" he says. He was pretty mad when he walked over to the car. She made nice smiles at him, but he looked stern and says, "Can't permit it! I gotta pinch you!"

"Oh, dear!" she says, smiling at him again. "I'm mighty sorry, but anyhow, you won't pinch me where it'll show, will you?"

The Big Question

AN OFFICER in a small African town received the following from the War Office:

"War declared, arrest all foreigners in your district."

He replied: "Have arrested four Spanish, six Germans, five French, two Swedes, one man from the Argentine, and one American. Please state with whom we are at war."

Ellen Terry

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

Ellen Terry is dead.

The event calls for more than passing notice, for she was one of the most conspicuous figures on the stage of the past generation.

A protege of Charles Reade, a co-worker with Henry Irving, and until her dying day a noted figure, she was one of the most remarkable women of recent years.

David Belasco properly called attention to the secret of her success when he said: "She was so filled with life and vitality and displayed those qualities so perfectly in her acting that she made every part she played delightful to see. She lent to every character much of her superabundance of the joy of living. How we all reacted to the charm that was hers! She was always superb in all her acts and she seemed to electrify the atmosphere and the people about her. I wish she might have lived forever with unfailing powers and undaunted spirit to help keep the world alive and pulsating with her abundant energy."

The English actress, Haidee Wright, said of her: "She was the best loved woman of the English stage."

Her success was due to the same thing that makes anybody a success: abundance of life.

That is what we all want and what we all like, "abundance of charm and life."

Probably Jesus never made a more appealing claim than when he said: "I am come that ye might have life, and life more abundantly."

There are some people who just naturally electrify their surroundings. They disperse the gloom. Just by entering the room they make everybody happy.

Arnold Bennett said of one of his characters that no matter what folks might say of him, "he cheered us all up a bit."

Perhaps those people do good and artistic work that parade the glooms, remind us that there are ash cans in every house and wind up their tales with the hero either mad or getting hung. But what good does their wonderful art do.

The world is hungry for sunlight and cheer. We have enough of things in the realities of life to depress and discourage us. So when some one comes along that gladden us and make us all love life that person is a Godsend.

We all join in the wish of Mr. Belasco that this woman might have lived forever and kept up her business of radiating sunshine wherever she went.

There may be many things you desire in a wife. She must be witty and healthy and beautiful. But the quality that is most lasting and beneficial is just plain cheerfulness.

Right Angles

By ALEXANDER CAIRNS

Responsibility

SET it down among the non-debatables that action is often the throwing into gear of some slogan of gutter philosophy.

That golden text of shiftlessness, "pass the buck," when set in motion becomes irresponsibility. And it has a pedagogy all its own. It teaches improvidence every time it is uttered.

As a captain of deeds, suggestion takes precedence of mandate. Stenographers are the only ones who will take dictation. Things mandatory are taboo in a social order foundationed on liberty, equality and fraternity.

But artistic hints come to us like the irresistible smiles of lovers and lead us as lambs to the slaughter or sheep to the shambles.

As witness for the defense watch the military band, like a Pied Piper, call the youth from home and sweetheart to the terror of the trench and the emprise of the aviator.

Of what questionable worth, then, is suggestion wrapped in a small pack of speech which even ignorance and degeneracy may roll on the tongue like a pellet of honey!

Call the dentist of diction, then, and have him extract that decayed slogan, "Pass the buck." Because it is a sure symptom and siren of irresponsibility.

Responsibility is the sire of giants. All of his sons are built on the colossal plans of Michael Angelo's Moses and Jeremiah. When men accept contracts of creation they sign on the dotted line of promotion and add cubits to their stature.

Let a man thank his tutelary deity when he is proffered responsibility. It is another word for opportunity, and the curbs are crowded impassably with men who would trade an arm for a chance.

To "pass the buck" is to declare one's indolence. And when indolence is at the bat poverty is on deck. It is industry that hits the home runs. The fellows who venture are the fellows who run up the score.

And the man who hobnobs with ideas is the man who finds the promotive commission lying on his desk.

Passing of Shivers

IT IS somewhat disconcerting to learn from a competent authority that the wild man of Borneo no longer exists. Attired in the latest mode and sophisticated to a degree he has ceased to hunt heads and is in trade for the almighty dollar.

True, the "wild man of Borneo," as ballyhooed by Barnum, was something of a hoax. Yet he played a useful part in his day. He gave millions the shivers.

On the theory that whatever is has a purpose, we uphold the necessity for shivers. They prevent the calm of life from becoming intolerable. And now civilization is taking them away. An entire summer season is about to pass without a single instance of a convincing sea serpent, an Adam or Eve gone garbless to subsist in the forest or a new thrill from a ghost or a hermit.

From an existence become so refined as to be flat, stale and unprofitable, pray deliver us.
